Eisenhower Terms GOP Tiff Healthy

Says Differences Okeh As Long As Maintain 'Common Nucleus'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, target of some criticism by fellow Republicans lately, said today, "There are differences of opinion within our party and I hope there always will be."

With specifically noting any criticism of himself, the President predicted GOP success, but said: "Under our two-party system, a national party must contain within it divergent points of view reflecting the varying opinions on national issues from state to state, region to region."

Common Thought Nucleus

"This is a healthy condition as long as the fundamental beliefs within that party provide a common nucleus of thought, a common ground. We have that in the Republican party — a set of unalterable truths that bind us together into an inseparable whole, dedicated to conducting the government of the United States in the best interests of its people."

Eisenhower expressed his views in a brief talk prepared for delivery by telephone from his vacation headquarters here to party workers attending a New England regional conference sponsored by the Republican National Committee at Providence, R.I.

His general theme was the future of the party — a future without an Eisenhower-for-president ticket.

Second Of Six

The Providence session is the second of six scheduled area conferences arranged by the committee to find out, as Eisenhower put it, "what's on the people's minds, both with respect to the party organization and the issues we face, domestic and international."

The first conference was held recently in Omaha, Neb.

He made no mention of the 1960 presidential campaign, when the party must pick a new standard bearer, but he did speak of the job the Republicans face next year in trying to wrest control of Congress from the Democrats.

While he took note of intra-party differences, Eisenhower sought to place emphasis on agreement.

Much On Which To Agree

"As Republicans we have much upon which we can agree," he said. "As long as we adhere to the principles first laid down by our first Republican president, Abraham Lincoln, I believe we can resolve any differences among us."

Mine Derails Israel Train

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — An Israeli freight train struck a land mine a mile west of the Jordan border today and four cars were derailed.

No casualties were reported. The derailment occurred near Jerusalem on the main line from Tel Aviv. Departure of the morning passenger train from Jerusalem to Tel Aviv was canceled, and police with dogs set out to try to pick up the trail of those who planted the mine.

In Tel Aviv, a military spokesman charged that Syrians opened fire from across the frontier on an Israeli border patrol north of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said Israelis returned the fire and withdrew without casualties.

U. S. Pushes Efforts To Prevent Conflict

Bed-Bleaching Culprit Jailed

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — John Caulk, 57-year-old Centreville Negro, is going to spend 30 days in jail for pouring a strong bleach in the bed of Edna Wheeler.

Magistrate J. W. Thompson Jr., who imposed the sentence, said the woman was not in bed at the time but, her bed clothing was burned badly. About a year ago, Caulk was jailed on an assault charge when convicted of putting lye in Edna Wheeler's snuff box.

Nuclear Age British Navy Plans Bared

LONDON (AP) — The royal navy is to be reshuffled into tight task force groups with nuclear punch, spearheaded by a supersonic bomber carrying an atom bomb.

Battleships and cruisers are dead. This new pattern of the nuclear age navy was disclosed today by the first lord of the admiralty, Lord Selkirk, in a memorandum to the admiralty's estimates for 1957-1958 spending.

The new look, with its emphasis on manpower reduction and greater firepower, had been foreshadowed in a revolutionary, five-year defense program outlined earlier this month by Defense Minister Duncan Sandys.

Battleships are out, in the new scheme. In their place will be modernized and re-equipped aircraft carriers.

Cruisers are to be replaced by fast fleet escort vessels carrying guided missiles.

The new plans mean a reduction of 7,000 men from the navy. Expenditure drops by 89 million dollars to 844 million dollars.

Pilot Due To Fly Jet Powered X15 At 4,000 M.P.H.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pilot who looks more like a banker than a space man may be the first human to fly 4,000 m.p.h.

Scott Crossfield, 35, was named yesterday to pilot the rocket-powered North American X15 on its maiden flight next year.

He is the man who first flew twice the speed of sound — 1,327 m.p.h. in the Douglas Skyrocket in November 1953 — and he is the man who may pilot the X15 higher and faster than any other manned aircraft. The Pentagon in Washington has said the X15 may achieve such unbelievable marks as 4,000 m.p.h. and 200,000 feet altitude.

Many of Crossfield's own ideas are being engineered into the X15. Presumably it will be dropped from a mother plane over Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., as were the X1 and X2 research speedsters which ran the records up to better than 2,200 m.p.h. and 80,000 feet altitude.

Might Be Fastest Man

Cool Weather Seen Monday

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five-day forecast: Warm Saturday and Sunday with scattered showers. Colder Monday with some rain. Tuesday, Wednesday, temperatures will average 4 to 8 degrees above normal. Normal highs are in the 60s. Lows range from the upper 30s in Garrett County to the upper 40s in some eastern and southern counties.

Man Moves Lawn; Home Owner Sues

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — A legal weed-pulling match loomed today over the question of whether a man moving out of a city-owned house can take his lawn with him.

In one corner is Albert Bartholomew, a dedicated turf fancier, who in effect says, "When I go, my lawn goes."

In the other corner is the City Council, replying through Town Clerk Francis Busby, "He'll bring it back or we'll sue."

Six weeks ago Bartholomew moved from the city's Parkfield housing development to a private house. "So did his lawn."

Bartholomew makes no bones about it. He rolled up the turf and hauled it away in a truck. He also removed the shrubs, roses and other plants which he had nurtured with loving care during his three-year tenancy.

Last night the Council decided to sue if it must.

"The lawn and plants," said Busby, "became the city's property and Mr. Bartholomew had no right to remove them without consent."

"I spent over 100 pounds ($200) on that garden," retorted Bartholomew. "It was in a shocking state when I moved there."

Both sides appeared to be firmly dug into their opposing positions, along with the lawn, shrubs, roses and other plants, which are doing nicely in front of Bartholomew's new house.

Wheat Futures Fall

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures started fractionally lower on the Board of Trade today, and then fell under persistent selling. Corn and oats showed little change and soybeans were somewhat weak.

Labor Funds Plan Opposed By Business

Wants Union Setup Under Supervision, Not Employer Share

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's call for government supervision of employee welfare funds apparently faces more opposition from business than from organized labor.

Business organizations contend that whatever scandals have occurred have been in respect to union-operated and not to management-operated funds. The latter type, however, compose some 90 per cent of all employee benefit funds.

Favors Union Regulation

The National Assn. of Manufacturers favors stiff regulation of union-run welfare-pension funds and union finances, but not for employer-run funds. Organized labor wants both types covered — as AFL-CIO President George Meany reiterated yesterday.

President Eisenhower, in a statement issued yesterday at Augusta, Ga., after conferring with Secretary of Labor Mitchell, urged quick congressional action on long-pending administration proposals to supervise "union health and welfare funds."

Applies To Both

But the administration's pending legislation he talked about would apply to both union and nonunion employee funds. So until he says otherwise the President must be presumed to mean that he, like Mitchell, favors a law requiring filing and financial disclosure covering both types of funds.

The NAM's opposition to government supervision of management-operated employee benefit plans was stated in a recent report which spoke of the red tape involved and of possible dangers of disclosing the nature of welfare-pension fund investments.

Eden Recovers; To Be Released From Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — Sir Anthony Eden will be discharged from New England Baptist Hospital next Monday, the daily bulletin said today.

Dr. Richard B. Cattell, who operated on Eden April 13 for bile duct obstruction, said in the bulletin that the 59-year-old former British premier would spend a week near Boston after which he will travel by air to Ottawa May 6.

During the visit to Ottawa, the bulletin said, Sir Anthony and Lady Eden will be the guests of the governor general, Vincent Massey, a personal friend.

Eden came here by air on April 7 from New Zealand where he had been resting after leaving office.

The operation was his fourth major surgery in four years.

Russ Missile Output Might Surpass U. S.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Blunt warning to the nation's industrial leaders that Communist missile development may surpass that of the United States was sounded at Ft. Bliss last night.

The warning came at a three-day symposium for industrial and military leaders.

Toukan Gets Top Jordan Military Job

Appointed Governor As Second Day Of Martial Law Passes

AMMAN (AP) — Defense Minister Suleiman Toukan today was appointed military governor of all Jordan as King Hussein's kingdom passed through its second day of martial law.

Toukan will wield tremendous power in the seething country. Continuing the curfew in Jordan's five biggest cities, the new government of Premier Ibrahim Hashem banned all public prayer services for the Muslim Sabbath today. The idea is to prevent large gatherings which the King's leftist, Communist and extreme nationalist enemies might turn into violent demonstrations.

Many Communists and leftist leaders were reported arrested in a roundup aimed at crushing the Communist movement in Jordan. Neighboring Syria and Egypt were reported faced with a demand from Iraq that Syria pull out the 5,000 troops it has in northern Jordan. They are there ostensibly to protect Jordan against Israel, but Western governments have feared they might be used to annex part of Jordan for Syria as a result of the kingdom's unsettled condition.

Hussein already had accused his "brothers in Egypt" of stirring up the riots which brought on his declaration of martial law and total curfew yesterday. Withdrawal of the Syrian forces would further threaten Egyptian President Nasser's leadership of the four-nation Arab alliance of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia. But failure to pull out the Syrians risked a clash with Iraqi troops and perhaps the soldiers of Saudi Arabia's King Saud.

Earth Shock Hits Eastern New England

BOSTON (INS) — Eastern New England was shaken by an earth shock today, with tremors felt from Brunswick, Me., to Braintree, Mass., and as far inland as Springfield, Mass., and Springfield, Vt.

The quake, lasting ten seconds, was recorded at the Boston College seismograph station in Weston at 6:40:34 a. m. (EST). It was estimated to be centered 105 miles northeast of Boston, about 15 miles off the coast of Portland, Me.

No one was injured and there were no reports of damage. The shock was also felt in some sections of Boston.

At Portland dishes were shaken off shelves. Loose objects in homes were displaced. Police in many communities received telephone calls from householders inquiring about the shock.

Residents of Concord, N. H., Andover and North Andover, Mass., reported they were awakened by a severe rocking motion.

Coal Production Increase Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bituminous production for the week ended April 20 totaled about 10,195,000 tons against 9,900,000 tons in the period ended April 13, the National Coal Assn. estimated today.

Production for the corresponding week in 1956 was 9,785,000 tons.

Production Jan. through April 20 was estimated at about 151,325,000 tons compared with 152,820,000 tons a year ago.

Balloon Bailout Test Set For 92,000 Feet

BALTIMORE (AP) — A preview of the Air Force's next high-altitude bailout attempt will be staged next week at New Brighton, Minn., with a balloon flight to 92,000 feet.

But instead of men, the gondola will carry a manikin whose joints are made to simulate the joints of the human skeleton.

If next week's test is successful, the gondola will be manned for actual bailout experiments this summer at the Air Research and Development Command's Alamogordo, N.M., development center. The current bailout altitude record is 45,300 feet.

Jacob Albam Pleads Guilty To Spy Count

Third To Confess Conspiracy To Get Secrets For Russia

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacob Albam, accused member of a Soviet spy ring, today pleaded guilty to conspiring with Russians to obtain U. S. defense data for transmission to Russia.

Albam, 64, was the third member of an espionage ring seized by the FBI early this year to confess his guilt.

His action came 16 days after two cohorts in the plot, Jack Sobel, 53, and Sobel's wife, Myra, 52, entered similar pleas, and threw themselves on the mercy of the court.

By so doing, they apparently sought to escape a death penalty. Federal Judge Richard H. Levitt, who received the pleas from all three, set next Friday for sentencing them. Each could get up to 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000 or both.

Guilty To One Count

The trio, all refugees from the Iron Curtain, were charged on a six-count indictment, detailing spy activities here and abroad.

Their pleas of guilty were to one count only, concerning conspiracy with Russian agents to obtain defense documents, photographs and other data, knowing it would be sent to Russia.

Missionary Action Urged

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII has called the entire Roman Catholic Church to a vast missionary action. He called for a special effort in Africa, saying its people face the danger of communism.

The appeal was made in an Easter encyclical letter to bishops made public today.

The 81-year-old head of the Church appealed to the more than 450 million Catholics to aid in bringing the faith to others by prayer, financial help and, "in the case of some," dedication of their lives.

He said Africa is now "opening up to the life of the modern world, and passing through what may prove to be the most serious years of its millenary destiny."

Lodge Tells U.N. Outline; Protest Toll

Final Acceptance Of Plan Delayed Until Trial Period

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States agreed today to accept Egypt's Suez plan on a provisional basis, but reserved its final acceptance until the plan has been put to trial.

The U. S. position was laid before the U. N. Security Council by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who said the plan announced by the Egyptian government this week left much to be desired.

Lodge announced that, pending a final settlement, U. S. vessels will be authorized to pay tolls to Egypt only under protest, as has been the case since President Nasser nationalized the 103-mile waterway.

Doesn't Meet Requirements

The U. S. delegate said the Egyptian plan, set forth in a memorandum to the U. N., falls short of the six requirements adopted by the Security Council last October 13 as a basis for a settlement.

He noted especially the lack of any provision for "organized cooperation" in the operation and control of the canal, which Egypt had promised last November in a letter to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

"In view of this lack of provision for organized and systematic cooperation between Egypt and the users," Lodge said, "there is no assurance that the six requirements will in fact be implemented."

Must Be Tried

He added: "Perhaps no final judgment can be made regarding the regime proposed by Egypt until it has been tried out in practice. Therefore, any de facto acquiescence by the United States must be provisional and we reserve the right to express ourselves further on the matter in the future."

He said it was obvious that a number of practical arrangements would have to be worked out in putting the Egyptian plan into effect. He did not spell this out.

The Egyptian plan calls for collection of tolls and operation of the canal by Egypt. Egypt, however, pledged itself to submit disputes to international arbitration and to agree to abide by decisions of the International Court of Justice on disputes over interpretation of the convention of 1888, which provides for free passage of all vessels through the canal.

Not Happy With It

A U. S. source said of the Egyptian declaration: "We're not happy with it. We don't think it's as good as it could be — but it's a lot better than what we started with. We think it ought to be given a trial."

Informants in London said Britain — the canal's biggest customer — and the United States would seek some kind of council pressure on Egypt that would produce new negotiations and better terms.

France was reported holding out for a showdown. French Foreign Ministry officials in Paris described the Egyptian plan as "virtually unacceptable."

Dr. Elliott Named To Presbyterian Moderator Post

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Dr. William M. Elliott Jr. of Dallas, Tex., is the new moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.

The pastor of Highland Park Church in Dallas was elected in a close vote over Dr. Stuart R. Oglesby, pastor of Atlanta's Central Presbyterian Church, last night as the 97th general assembly of Southern Presbyterians opened.

Dr. Elliott succeeds Dr. W. Taliaferro Thompson of Richmond, Va.

Two controversial proposals affecting the standing of Southern Presbyterians with other denominations are not expected to be taken up by the assembly before Saturday.

One is a request that the Committee on Interchurch Relations explore a possible union with the Reformed Church of America.

The other is a request that the committee recommend that the assembly withdraw Southern Presbyterian membership in the National and World Councils of Churches of Christ.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever.—Morris.

Foolish Red Tape

THE TROUBLES of Delaware's Senator Williams is trying to turn back $1,508.26 he saved from his stationery allowance seem to demonstrate how thoroughly cumbersome government can get. Treasury Secretary Humphrey's insistence that the government would indeed be glad to get the money doesn't obscure the fact that as the law reads there is really no sensible way to return it. The law evidently makes it mandatory for the senator to receive the money whether he has need of it or not. Since this is an expense allowance, to make acceptance mandatory seems absurd.

BY THEIR NATURE expense accounts are generally flexible, though there is sense in fixing a maximum limit. What puzzles the onlooker is why a man must be compelled to take the maximum. Tax experts say Williams can get the money back to the Treasury in one of two ways. First, he can write a check to the government for the full amount of his saving, and list it on his income tax return as a charitable contribution. Second, he could write the check as a regular gift, deducting in advance enough to pay any necessary gift tax on the sum. If none is due, he would still perhaps hold out enough to pay the normal income tax on the amount, for the allowance is taxable as income to the senator.

OBVIOUSLY, BOTH of these schemes are foolish makeshifts which do not disguise the fact that Williams must take the money in the first place. In any sensible world, he ought to be allowed to refuse the money in advance if he finds he doesn't need it. Or, if he's already received it but then discovers it's unneeded, he should be able to write a check returning the money as if he'd never had it at all. A government that professes to be eager to save money certainly can find better ways than we now seem to have to encourage those who want to do their share in saving. The Williams episode makes the government look more than a little childish.

Foreign Aid Pays

THERE ISN'T a shadow of a doubt that Congress means to hack off a sizable chunk of President Eisenhower's foreign aid requests for the coming year. And the voices raised in defense of the full sum do not appear too strong. Nevertheless, it shouldn't be imagined that because a tight program seems both inevitable and wise there is factual support for those who regard foreign assistance efforts as total loss or waste. All aside from the many tangible and intangible benefits aid programs have produced in the shape of stouter, healthier friends abroad, the fact is that we get money in return. Not perhaps all that is promised at certain stages, nor all that we would like. But payment, nevertheless. In the calendar year 1956, according to the Commerce Department, various foreign governments paid the United States 700 million dollars toward the liquidation of their debts. This was the third successive year foreign countries had made reductions in their debts to us, and the record thus indicates substantial good faith in their fiscal relations with America. Prospects are that payments in 1957 may come to nearly one billion dollars.

No Hurry

A CERTAIN ROUGH, tough writer who turns out tough novels that are long on violence and cruelty but short on literary merit has not had a new title on the book stands for some time now. His publisher is reported to be getting a little impatient. This author's books, which are to be seen in paperback editions on news stands and in drug stores all over the country, have had a phenomenal sale. This does not speak very well for the literary tastes of the American public, which has neglected many infinitely better novels. It is discouraging that so many thousands of readers seem to prefer the output of a man whose books are full of sadistic sluggings, beatings and shootings. But at any rate, the publishers are said to be anxious to get their hands on the next manuscript full of blood, torture and violence. As for us, we can wait.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

A WEBSTER CLASSIC

Thomas L. Stokes

Is This Nation Now Afraid To Be Itself?

WASHINGTON—Every so often history seems to come to a full circle and offers humankind a chance to retrieve itself.

It has been a quick swing — only a dozen years, come August 6 — since we dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima. Three days later will be the 12th anniversary of the second one, let loose on Nagasaki. Five days later, Japan surrendered.

Now comes a visitor from Japan, Professor Masatoshi Matsushita, rector of a Christian college in Tokyo, representing Premier Nobusuke Kishi. He asked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles if we wouldn't please abandon tests of nuclear weapons. Sorry, can't oblige just now, replied our Secretary.

But the professor is used to "no." He got it in England, where he saw Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Winston Churchill. He asked that Britain abandon tests scheduled for Christmas Island off China.

While he was away, his country got all stirred up over Soviet Russian nuclear tests in Siberia. Japanese scientists, in the belief that the Russian tests are contaminating the atmosphere over Japan, urged housewives to boil drinking water and to wash fresh fruit as a precaution.

THE DAY AFTER Professor Matsushita saw Dulles we saw on our television screens news pictures showing crowds parading about Tokyo to protest nuclear tests. Strangely enough, the banners they carried and their shouting condemned the British and us, but not Russia. That might suggest Communist inspiration for the demonstrations.

But unfortunately we are vulnerable for such exploitation by Russia or whomever, especially where Japan is concerned. We are the natural target. For it was our bombs that fell on Hiroshima and Nagasaki to start a new era of fear in the world. Since then the world has figuratively huddled under the awful shadow of the mushroom cloud. Even if another bomb never goes off, the tests by ourselves and Russia and Britain could injure the human race and coming generations because of the radioactive fallout. Or so the scientists tell us.

In expiation, it would seem that we should be leading a crusade to abandon nuclear tests. In fact, we should have been leading one a long time ago, as was suggested in the 1956 Presidential campaign by Adlai Stevenson. Again this week he advocated stopping hydrogen bomb tests following a visit with Professor Matsushita.

WE HAVE LET Russia get the jump on us with proposals to stop atomic bomb tests, and she obviously is making headway in the battle for men's minds while we hold back and let her seize the initiative.

Clearly she is capitalizing on the current London conferences on disarmament. At least our representative, Harold Stassen, reported to Dulles and to President Eisenhower that he regards Russia's intentions on disarmament as "serious" this time.

Why couldn't Dulles and the President have been dramatizing our position before the world? We have presented proposals to limit production of fissionable materials to peacetime use, starting April 1, 1958 if an inspection system is in effect. And we are ready to make some compromises on inspection. We also have proposed a gradual reduction in non-nuclear weapons and in armed forces.

A DRAMATIC offer by the President to stop nuclear tests might restore to us the initiative that we seem to have lost in recent weeks and months. Meanwhile, we could go ahead working slowly on the necessarily secret negotiations in London to get a long-range agreement with Russia on disarmament, nuclear weapons and all.

It is too bad that the President did not seize the occasion of the Japanese professor's visit. We have assumed a standoffish and suspicious attitude, fettered by our fears, constantly cautious and non-committal, negative instead of positive. No longer are we the bold nation which the world had come to expect and which our heritage beckons us to be.

Even as a ragged collection of colonies hovering along our Atlantic coast so many years ago, we were able to say things in our Declaration of Independence that went all over the world and inspired men everywhere.

Why are we so afraid to be ourselves now?

THE TWO anti-OIC lobbies are American Tariff League, whose executive secretary is Richard H. Anthony of New York; and the Committee on Export-Import Policy, whose Washington representative is O. R. Strackbach.

The Tariff League represents U.S. manufacturers bucking competition from foreign imports. Committee on Export-Import Policy presents a front for American workers whose jobs are said to be endangered by competition from low-wage foreign workers producing goods for U.S. import.

One new strategy of the opposition lobby is now apparent. Instead of concentrating their fight against lowered tariffs, they are proposing that more quotas be set to limit imports of goods—like plywood, steel screws and textiles—competing with American products.

Quota limitations of course create many administrative headaches for customs officials. And in the long run, they can have a more restrictive effect against imports than any reciprocal trade agreements.

SEVERAL important facts about the changing pattern of U.S. import and export statistics are generally overlooked in connection with this whole subject of foreign trade.

Since the end of World War II, in spite of the reciprocal trade agreements program, U.S. customs duties collected on imports have more than doubled. They have risen from 354 million dollars in 1945 to 705 million dollars in 1956.

In this same period, the reciprocal trade agreements have been whittled down so that the percentage of dutiable imports has risen from 33 to 52 per cent. For the first time in 47 years, duties were collected on more U.S. imports than were admitted free of duty. Dutiable imports have risen in value from one to six billion dollars in the last 12 years.

Total U.S. imports have risen from five to 12 billion dollars while total U.S. exports have ment as "serious" this time.

Why couldn't Dulles and the President have been dramatizing our position before the world? We have presented proposals to limit production of fissionable materials to peacetime use, starting April 1, 1958 if an inspection system is in effect. And we are ready to make some compromises on inspection. We also have proposed a gradual reduction in non-nuclear weapons and in armed forces.

A DRAMATIC offer by the President to stop nuclear tests might restore to us the initiative that we seem to have lost in recent weeks and months. Meanwhile, we could go ahead working slowly on the necessarily secret negotiations in London to get a long-range agreement with Russia on disarmament, nuclear weapons and all.

It is too bad that the President did not seize the occasion of the Japanese professor's visit. Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—It is no news that some theatre awards, Broadway's own version of Hollywood's gold-plated Oscars, were made here in New York Easter night.

The newspapers and the wire services carried the stories and there is no point in re-listing them. But what some of the recipients said never got into print and mostly what they said was gracious and amusing.

FOR EXAMPLE, the late Eugene O'Neill received an award for having written the best dramatic play of the season, "Long Day's Journey Into Night." But when young Sydney Chaplin, winner in the Best Feature or Supporting Actor, Musical category, got up to thank the people he issued a tiny, charming little joke—and 1,000 show folk took at least eight seconds to get its meaning before beginning slow laughter which built into a general roar.

"This has been a distinguished night for our family," he said. "The award for the best dramatic play of the season went to my grandfather — and now I have been honored. Thank you."

There was blank silence and bewilderment until, suddenly, a few remembered that Donna O'Neill, Eugene's daughter, is married to Sydney's father. Then the house fell in.

MOSS HART, honored for having directed "My Fair Lady," had little to say about the show itself but told how he first knew, while it was on the road, that it was a good show and probably would be a hit.

"It had nothing to do with the show itself," he said. "If you have a dog of a show on your hands you can't get room service, the elevator is always somewhere else and the bellboys snarl."

"With this show room service was instantaneous, there was always an elevator waiting and the bellboys offered good jokes. Even the taxi drivers downstairs were lined up with their motors running. That was when I knew for certain it was going to be all right."

LAWRENCE Langner, of the Theatre Guild founders and probably the one man most responsible for putting over and bringing to fruition the American Shakespeare Festival Theatre at Stratford, Conn., accepted the special award made to this theatre. Mr. Langner is a serious, dedicated man not known at all for jokes or light banter. But he, too, got general laughter when he said:

"I accept this honor for all those who worked so hard to make our Shakespeare theatre a success. They deserve this award. Indeed, we plan a special award for them. We are going to give them the Willies."

JUDY HOLLIDAY, winning the award for the best musical principal, female, walked up, received her plaque and said:

"I certainly didn't expect to win and, therefore, have no prepared speech of any kind. But how much preparation do you have to have to say thank you?" Actually, she was being truthful. She, like almost everyone present, contended or not, felt certain that Julie Andrews would win it for her work in the title role of "My Fair Lady." But Judy walked away with the prize.

IT WAS A LUSH and rosy night with all the top people of Broadway present in their best bibs and tuckers, on best behavior and all as gracious as queens. There was no jealousy, bickering, acid-eying of other gowns or wry faces over thin jokes.

It was a night of fun with honor—and then, as is the way of show folk, to pretend not to take it all too big by making little jests.

These are the endearing, simple qualities, some childlike, which make me love the people of the theatre, deeply and honestly.

Joe Louis Can Cheer Up

WOBURN ABBEY, Eng. — It is indeed a worrisome thing, said the 13th Duke of Bedford, to owe your government more than $14,000,000 in inheritance taxes.

"It may be as much as $17,000,000," the Duke added. "The barristers are arguing about the exact sum now."

The genial Duke and his beautiful, blue-haired Duchess inherited from his late father not long ago great chunks of real estate in London, several hundred thousand acres in South Africa, a Jersey island complete, and the old family place here.

THIS CONSISTS of 20,000 acres and included eight villages and 55 farms. In addition, there is the house built 400 years ago and surrounded by a 3,000-acre park. All very well, the Duke continued, but his father neglected to leave any cash to go along with the real estate.

So the Duke and Duchess have opened Woburn Abbey to sightseers at 35 cents a look. The Duke functions as spieler, while the Duchess peddles booklets describing the premises. The crowds, mostly Britishers, are fabulous. One weekend more than 20,000 people trooped through the house, paddled on the lakes and took photos of the Duke's numerous herds of deer. Last year he and the Duchess took in nearly $50,000 from their specialized branch of show business.

"Sounds like a lot of money," the Duke said, "but it doesn't even pay expenses. In the next six months to get a start on paying my taxes, I've got to raise nearly $2,000,000 in cash."

THIS MAKES a fellow feel bankrupt, but that feeling is nothing new to the Duke. Consider the honeymoon he spent with his Duchess 10 years ago in New York. The British government allowed them to take out of England only a few hundred dollars for traveling expenses.

"We soon moved out of the beautiful New York hotel in which we'd registered and went into a very cheap one on the other side of the city," the Duchess said.

"Yes," the Duke interjected, "and we'd still have gone hungry had it not been for a Mrs. Vanderbilt, who seemed to like people with handles to their names. She fed us well and we are grateful."

THIS conversation took place at lunch in the abbey's stately hall, which the Duke's ancestors had decorated with statuary from ancient Greece and Rome. The Duke's eye fell on a row of Greek vases, in designs of red and black.

"It's odd, but that stuff always has struck me as ugly," he said. "Yet it's probably worth $250,000."

Lunch consisted principally of Bison pie, from one of the few remaining herds in the world of the European variety of buffalo.

So today, more U.S. jobs depend on production for export than on American production of goods which are in competition with imports from abroad.

The Duchess then went out to her book stall in the center of the picture gallery where the crowds were inching by. None of the visitors seemed to recognize the saleslady.

THE DUKE TOOK his luncheon guests for a tour of his ancient home; he didn't seem impressed by it, or by his ancestors, either.

"Take this old duffer," he said, pointing to a portrait of a white-whiskered patriarch. "He was the first Earl of Bedford. He was a kind of high-class smuggler."

The Duke identified another of his forebears as a drunken burn and a third as a well-known pirate.

By now the guests and the cash customers were well-mingled and the Duke was leading the way from the great hall to the china display and eventually to the gallery, where the books were for sale.

The Duchess seemed to be doing a rushing business in pamphlets describing the abbey and the animals loose upon the grounds.

I KEPT worrying about that $14,000,000 the Duke has got to fork over. His tax bill makes Joe Louis's look like small potatoes. The Duke said he was worried, too.

"I'll have to sell some stuff," he said. "A lot of stuff, but I'm going to try to hang onto the abbey here."

When the Duke dies, his eldest son will have to pay similar taxes on what's left and that will be the end of one of England's greatest estates. This is not a happy prospect; it explains why the Duke cracks wise at every opportunity. He tries to keep his mind off the ubiquitous tax collector.

Curiosity

REGULARLY, one reads complaints about the teaching of American history in our schools, from the primary level on up through the universities. But how much is done about this in terms of serious effort, and how much solid thought is given to the question?

It is to be doubted if the citizens of any of the major countries know their own history as little as Americans know the history of this country.

History cannot be known by teaching one or two text books, highlighting the salient and important facts, dates and names in the story of American development. For Americans to know their history better, they must become more interested in it.

Anyone who reads the Federalist Papers can readily see that the men who founded this nation were men who thought and who had ideas. What did their ideas mean then? What do they mean now? How have circumstances forced alterations upon these ideas?

If we take questions like these, we have a basis for new inquiry into American history, and possibly for a sounder teaching of the subject. For we need to keep thinking about what American history meant and what it means now.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—The man with the hoe has given way to the man with the white collar. The United States one day last year silently reached one of those turning points from which there is no going back.

It became a land of indoor peasants, probably the first major power in history in which the white-collar worker makes up the largest element in its labor force.

In pointing out that white-collar workers are now the most numerous type of wage earner in America, a U. S. Department of Labor expert warned that some are in still short supply.

"The shortage of skilled, technical and professional manpower is now general throughout the nation," Brunswick A. Bagdon told a conference at Louisville, "and will get worse unless we move swiftly to improve our training and employment policies and strengthen our educational system."

THIS IS ONLY one aspect of the quiet revolution over the last half-century during which the machine age has gone to the farm and the hired hand has gone to the city.

The old question of "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm?" has received a final answer. You ain't gonna. In 1910, America's farm population totaled 13,550,000. In 1955, it was down to 6,341,000.

The farm family and the family farm seem to be slowly going the way of the horse—if not the do-dos—as agriculture becomes more and more a big business, and the small operator becomes less and less important.

The typical American no longer works outdoors.

INSTEAD of a lean-bronzed figure with calloused hands he will be prisoner of a paycheck who can't even tell you how many faucets there are on a milk cow.

Instead of learning the ways of nature first hand he will read about them in books written by a career naturalist.

Instead of feeling the twinges of rheumatism from years of work in the rain and the cold, he will go to his doctor to be treated for the best of gray, twilight illnesses that civilization brings — the nameless diseases and inexplicable fatigue that comes to people who dwell too much indoors, and who forget why the Lord put muscles in their bodies.

This new typical American will labor less, eat better, live longer than his father. And many and many a morning as he slips his necktie—the moose-like symbol of his bondage—beneath his shining white collar, he will look at himself in the mirror and ask:

"What am I missing in life?" Perhaps his granddaddy, who would be sitting by his fireplace if he only had a fireplace, could tell him.

Assignment America

NEW YORK—It has been the distinct and rankled impression of many lady airplane travelers that a number of those portly stewardsesses are inclined to bestow their extra ounces of coffee, their softer smiles, their gayer greetings on men.

Unless a woman has a child under three weeks old, she is likely to play second fiddle to the nearest potential beau.

Not that you could blame the hostesses, exactly. A single girl would be idiot indeed to waste excess charm and free chewing gum on another girl when there was a male in the immediate vicinity. But somehow this rationalization doesn't help, when the plane is up and the chips are down and the lady in the uniform is that type who hangs up all the men's coats before she acknowledges the presence of the ladies.

Early this week, 40 of the most beautiful, talented hostesses of the world's airways were assembled at a New York buffet room competing for the title, "Miss Spirit of St. Louis" (dedicated to a Warner Bros. movie, Lindbergh, spirits and spirit). It seemed a good time to get their side of the story.

"WELL, FRANKLY," said Jan Galus, a succulent blonde who fotes trays for United Airlines, "a stewardess can't always be as nice to a woman as a man, because a woman is sort of afraid of another woman until she gets to know her."

"Men are more fun to talk to, really. Women sort of look us up and down sometimes and aren't very friendly. In fact, they're the ones most likely to be nasty and chew us out."

Carin Quarnstrom, SAS's multi-lingual beauty, was appalled at the idea. "I know some girls lean toward men," she said, "but when I occasionally fly as a passenger, that sort of business makes me very allergic. A good stewardess should sense, even before she's called, which people need her most—and usually those people are the women."

Virginia Buss, Northwest's heroine who recently nabbed a criminal (male) during a flight, is a bit disillusioned with men at the moment and claims they don't need as much service in the air. It's only the marriage-minded girls who show prejudice toward women. "Myself, I pay more attention to elderly folks and mothers with babies," she observed.

Japan Airlines' lovely representative didn't understand how women could feel slighted. "Kindness," she said, "is best for all stewardesses. Naturally it is natural to be nice to men, but also it is even nicer to be nice to ladies. They need niceness most."

THERE WAS NO folderl about Loria Woltemath, cute trick from Continental Airlines. "The reason men may look like they get more attention is that they always demand more attention. They want their eggs built up—and on a plane, they can get it if they insist upon it."

"Of course there may be some hostesses who look at male passengers as possible additions to their social life—but women understand women. If they get that kind of girl on a flight, they may as well start demanding as the men do."

Meta Rose Hinderle, Swissair's version of Elizabeth Taylor, admitted she "likes the feeling of being admired by the men, but somehow I get along just as well with elderly ladies. Young ladies, well—what would you expect, now?"

And Angie Snook, TWA's Kansas City kid, put it this way: "The complaint has been voiced for years, but I think it's an illusion. . . . Men look like they're getting more attention, but it's because there are more men flying than women. I like everybody except those who try to impress you—with important-looking business cards, with orders, with smart talk."

"All in all, my favorite passengers are babies. Either sex."

Income Up On Farmers' Marketing

WASHINGTON — Maryland farmers counted more dollars from farm marketings during the first two months of this year than during January-February last year.

A Department of Agriculture report showed cash receipts were up more than 8 per cent, compared to a national average of about 2 per cent.

The increase was realized from crops, since receipts from livestock and livestock products showed a slight decrease.

The department said total cash receipts from farm marketings in the United States are not likely to equal those of 1956. But increased government payments under the Soil Bank program are expected to more than offset any reduction in marketing receipts.

Maryland farmers received $29,423,000 from marketing of both crops and livestock compared to $27,114,000 for January and February of last year.

Crop receipts climbed from $4,435,000 to $6,918,000, while livestock receipts dropped from $22,678,000 to $22,475,000.

State To Test Sales Tax Ruling Of Circuit Court

BALTIMORE — Clayton Dietrich, assistant attorney general, says Maryland "definitely" will appeal a circuit court ruling that a 1957 legislative act designed to plug a sales tax loophole is invalid.

Dietrich said the case, originated in Baltimore County by the Martin Co., may go to the Supreme Court of the United States for final determination.

State financial officials told Gov. McKeldin, who urged enactment of the legislation, that Maryland might have to refund about 1 1/2 million dollars to manufacturers if the new law were not upheld.

Since 1947 the State has collected the sales tax from manufacturers on machinery they use to make special products for customers, then sell to the customers when the production orders are filled.

The Martin firm, in winning its Baltimore County case for refund of about $300,000, contended it should not be required to pay the sales tax in such cases because it was not the final — or retail — purchaser of the machinery.

What You Should Know About Cancer—5

This is the fifth of six articles providing the facts on cancer detection and treatment for a sane, sensible and life-saving approach to the problems of that disease.

By DAVID A. WOOD, M.D.
President of the American Cancer Society

Children with cancer of the eye have been in the news this past year. Mothers, reading about them, may have said, "A freak thing to happen, children don't get cancer! It can't happen to mine!" Others began watching their young with fear skin to phobia.

Both attitudes are wrong. Cancer in children is rare, although not as rare as most people believe. It strikes only one in 7,000 children, yet it kills more youngsters than any other disease; certainly many could be saved if the cancer were discovered earlier.

So here is my advice to parents: By all means memorize cancer's seven danger signals and have your child periodically checked by your physician during his entire childhood.

Cancer in children is complicated by several factors.

Before I describe these symptoms I want to stress the fact that they MAY OR MAY NOT indicate cancer. The occurrence of any of them should not be alarming. It should merely be the green light to visit the doctor—just to be on the foresight side of this disease.

Let us begin with eye tumor which rarely occurs after the age of four. It usually affects one eye, but both eyes are sometimes involved. The first warning is widening of the pupil that is apt to look like a squint. A later development is a pearly glint, or what some people call "cat's eye."

Retinal glioma, as it is called, is highly curable. The earlier the diagnosis, the greater the chances, not only of cure but of saving the child's sight.

Tumors of the brain may give a combination of warnings. The child may complain of blurred vision or "seeing double," loss of muscular coordination, or complaint of headaches that increase in frequency and severity.

Again, these symptoms may be caused by conditions totally unrelated to brain tumor, but they should have early attention.

Tumors of the kidney, or "Wilms' tumor" as they are called, after the doctor who first described them, rarely occur after the age of seven. The first sign usually is a readily noticeable swelling in the abdomen or flank, more prominent on one side than on the other. A mother basking her child can sometimes feel a firm mass before it becomes visible. Sometimes a child may complain of pain or become colicky and constipated before the enlargement becomes noticeable.

When surgery was the only method of treatment the outlook for Wilms' tumor was poor. Today, X-ray combined with surgery ensure a good chance of recovery.

How I wish we could say that about leukemia! This is the most common form of cancer in children, and thus far no cure has been found. However, researchers of the American Cancer Society have a growing optimism that eventually there will be a major breakthrough in the chemical treatment of certain types of cancer. Leukemia is the area of most intense exploration in this regard. Even now the disease is not as swiftly fatal as it used to be. New drugs, used singly or in combination, can prolong the life of a small patient for a year or more. One child, who gives us hope for all children, has lived with leukemia for more than seven years and is still attending school!

Leukemia lowers resistance, so an acute infectious illness is often the first revelation of cancer of the blood. Early symptoms are not unlike anemia: Weakness, fatigue and marked pallor of skin and lips. Bleeding may occur spontaneously from nose, gums or intestines. Other early signs included swelling in the neck, armpits, groin, chest or abdomen.

There are other forms of cancer in children but they occur too infrequently for discussion here. It will be sufficient to bear well in mind the symptoms described above. There is no reason to become an alarmist, but parents can give their children the quiet protection that is a part of the whole business of rearing the young.

The American Cancer Society urges parents to remember that many of the indispositions of childhood are simple ailments to be taken in stride. But they may also be symptoms of early cancer. Only regular and frequent examinations throughout childhood can give a child every possible chance—on the rare chance that cancer may strike.

(Next: Have the facts in your mind without having them on your mind.)

Church To Have Sacred Concert

A sacred concert will be presented tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Living Stone Church of the Brethren, West Second and North Cedar Streets, by the men's and women's quartets of Bridge Water (Va.) College.

This is one of the appearances of this choral group in its concert tour into North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia. The program will consist of three parts, combining the great choral numbers of Bach, Palestrina and Bortolinsky with the works of modern arrangers such as Waring, Christiansen and Heydenburg. The two quartets pool their talents in such numbers as "The Coming of His Feet" by Heydenburg and "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" arranged by Simeone.

This choral octet is under the personal direction of Professor C. Orman Spivey, a native of Greensboro, N. C. Mr. Spivey is a graduate of Houghton College and received his master's degree in music from Indiana University. The group is accompanied by Ruth E. Bowman at the piano.

List Forest Wardens For Appointment

Recommendations For Posts Sent To District Forester

Recommendations for the reappointment of Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor of Allegany County, and 29 forest wardens for two-year terms have been received, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

The veteran among the 29 wardens to be reappointed is Lorenza C. Lambert, who lives on the McCool Road near Westernport. He will complete his 18th two-year term June 1.

Maryland has had forest wardens for some 50 years and Mr. Johnson said this section's leader in point of service is Michael Tasker of Garrett County, a forest warden since 1908. His present term has another year.

The four Western Maryland counties have some 202 wardens. They are appointed for two-year terms which may begin at any time and each warden receives a commission from Governor Theodore R. McKeldin. Garrett County has 74 wardens, Allegany County has 65, Frederick County, 33 and Washington County 30.

Allegany County has 13 wardens, whose terms are expiring, who have been recommended for reappointment. They include Lorenza C. Lambert, ending his 18th term; William P. Shipley, 13th term; Amos S. Collins, Henry W. Ford and Edward W. Dressman, each ending 12th term; Robert Gerfin and Granville Shumaker, each ninth term; Irvin T. Lepley, fifth term; Howard L. Roberts, George E. Brown and Floyd Winebrenner, each fourth term; Melvin O. Whitfield and William E. Anderson, first term.

Other wardens recommended for reappointment: Garrett County — Cecil Ramsey, 13 terms; Samuel Otto and William Otto, ten terms each; Myrl J. Will, seven terms; James P. Opel and Harry C. Broadwater, one term each.

Washington County — Raymond Gehr and Charles D. Brunner, each 17 terms; George D. Clopper and R. H. Wempe, each 12 terms; Curtis L. Conway and Lyndon B. Zecker, five terms.

Frederick County — H. Crawford Swomley and George W. Hoffman, nine terms each; Jesse T. Nushbaum and Marion T. Hoffman, four terms each.

"Heart Line" Wedding rings are worn on the third finger of the left hand because people once supposed that a vein runs directly from this finger to the heart, and thus heart and hand are offered to each other. The custom continues, but the belief is not true.

Americans consume an average of 161 pounds of meat (81 pounds of it beef) per year per person.

ROMNEY—The official ground breaking to start the long-awaited Hampshire Memorial Hospital here will take place on the hospital site tomorrow at 8 p. m. Congressman Harley O. Staggers of Keyser will be the principal speaker at the occasion and the Romney and Capon Bridge High School bands have been invited to participate. The site may be reached by going down Depot Street to the State Police Barracks and turning in there.

Automobiles should be parked on Depot Street and not in the State Police driveway or on the hospital grounds.

W. A. Sherman, general contractor, will supervise the building plans and start moving materials and equipment on the site Monday morning. The official starting date for the project will be Wednesday, making the completion date for the project April 30, 1958.

The contractor and the Hampshire County Court have signed the contracts.

Sherman advises that he plans to use as many local people on the job as possible and asks that applicants for jobs in the construction of the hospital come to the construction site on Monday, May 6. There will not be much work available before that time, so anyone desiring to apply for a job should report to the contractor's office on the grounds on May 6.

The initial work to be done will be the excavations for the footers which will commence as soon as the small amount of necessary grading has been completed.

Final approval of the project has been received from federal and state authorities and the Hampshire County Court was authorized to award the contracts.

Beside the contracts for the general construction which went to Sherman, the court also awarded contracts for the laundry, X-ray, kitchen and sterilizing equipment and the window shades.

Bids for other items of furnishings and equipment will be advertised and taken at a later date.

Official To Visit Event

WINCHESTER—The Ambassador of Panama to the United States, His Excellency Ricardo M. Arias, will be the Minister of State in the coronation ceremony for Queen Shenandoah XXX, Miss Anne Denise Doughty-Tichborne of Winchester, England, at the Apple Blossom Festival here Thursday.

In coming to Winchester, Ambassador Arias will be returning to one of the scenes of his boyhood for he was a student here for several years at the Shenandoah Valley Academy (no longer in existence), from which he was graduated in 1931. Among his classmates at the Academy was Thomas G. Scully, Winchester attorney and president of the festival.

The ambassador was president of the Republic of Panama from January 15, 1955 to October 1, 1956. Before that, he held a number of positions in the political field, having been Minister of Agriculture, Commerce and Industries, and Minister of Labor, Health and Social Welfare.

In the commercial field, the former Panamanian president has been a member of the board of directors of several large enterprises, having been on different occasions director and assistant treasurer of the Cerveceria Nacional, the largest industrial organization of Panama.

Active in the field of sports, former President Arias is a golfer and tennis player and has represented his country in several international tournaments. He is an advocate of amateur sports and is much interested in children's playgrounds and welfare.

Disappearing Island

Scientific explanation of the periodic disappearance of Falcon Island is that the island is produced by intermittent eruptions of an underwater volcano. When the volcano is quiet, the sea wears away the ash it has thrown up.

Installation Set Today By Moose Lodge

Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a public installation of officers at the Moose Home tonight.

Members of Moose lodges at Frostburg, Keyser, Piedmont and Romney, and members of Women of the Moose chapters of Frostburg, Keyser and Piedmont, have accepted invitations to attend. Women of the Moose, comprising the degree staff of Keyser Chapter will serve as an honor escort for the new officers. Mrs. Helen Pettie of Frostburg will be the pianist.

Among state officers who also will attend the ceremony are George Allen of Baltimore, state director of the Maryland Moose Association; Frederick Tanner of Dundalk, state president of the Maryland Moose Association; Samuel Canatella, Baltimore, state secretary of the Maryland Moose Association; and Frank Davis, this city, past governor and deputy supreme governor.

The installation will also serve to launch a re-enrollment program and membership drive. The class will be named in honor of this year's officers.

Following the installation, a dance, entertainment and social hour will be held for members, their wives and guests. Souvenirs are to be presented to the women.

The officers of the local lodge who will be installed are Raymond J. Smith, re-elected governor; G. Clifford Goodfellow, junior governor; Louis C. Soethe, prelate; Gerald B. Young, secretary; Edward Habeeb, treasurer; Donald Young, George C. Jones and William Winters, trustees.

Shawnee Park To Open For Season On May 25

SCHILLSBURG — Shawnee State Park will formally open May 25 for its eighth season, with expectations that new attendance records will be set again in 1957.

The park's seasonal attendance record has been exceeded each year since it opened.

Facilities at the 3,000-acre park near Schellsburg have again been enlarged. The new improvements are part of a continuing program of expansion at the park in an effort to make it usable by ever-growing numbers of visitors. Park attendance exceeded the million mark last year for the third straight year in 1956 when more than 1,500,000 visited the park.

May 25 will mark the opening of all facilities at the park, spokesmen said Monday, although some of the facilities are already in use. It will also mark the date at which attendance and other records for the year will be kept, and the full park force will be on duty. The park's extensive beach areas will be closed until the official opening date, after which full staffs of lifeguards will be on duty regularly until the closing date early in September.

Park officials said today the grounds are open now for picnicking and fishing. Bunting and swimming will begin May 25. Regular hours again this year at the park will be from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. (DST) daily.

The beach area of the park, along the west shore of Shawnee Lake has been extended another 200 feet for the 1957 season, it was revealed. Sanded beaches at the park now extend nearly one-half mile along the west shore.

For picnickers, whose numbers have been increasing at a rate faster than overall attendance in the past few seasons, 175 new tables will be installed by opening day scattered over the entire currently-usable area of the park. Three new latrines have also been built at strategic points in the grounds.

A major addition has been made to the park camping and tenting area in the south section of the grounds, to the right of Route 95 travelling from Schellsburg. Room is now available in the camping area for several hundred tents and/or trailers, for persons desiring to spend vacations in the grounds. Also in the camping area 47 new picnic sites with fireplaces for use by campers have been installed.

A continuing program of tree planting at the park has added 123,000 more trees to the grounds, it was revealed. The trees include Norway spruce, Colorado blue spruce, hemlock, white spruce and white pine. The newly-planted trees bring the total planted in the park under the plan to nearly one million trees. Park officials said that the 451-acre Shawnee Lake is already filled to its normal levels in preparation for the 1957 season.

Boy, 15, Charged In 'Shakedown'

A 15-year-old South Cumberland boy will be given a hearing in Juvenile Court tomorrow on a charge of threatening a 12-year-old newsboy unless he gave him money.

The boy was apprehended yesterday and admitted to having taken more than $40 from the newsboy in a "shakedown" since shortly after Christmas.

The case came to light when the 12-year-old boy was unable to pay for his papers and reported the older youth was shaking him down for money every week.

Detective Joseph Stichter said the 15-year-old boy told police he had borrowed money several times from the paper boy while walking with the youngster on his route. Finally when the younger lad refused to give him any more money, the older boy threatened him and continued to take the money, as much as $4 to $8 each week, Stichter said.

'Smithy' Files Equity Suit In Court Here

An equity suit was filed in Circuit Court yesterday over a dispute concerning rental of premises for a blacksmith shop in Frostburg.

Edward T. Moran, 74 First Street, Frostburg, filed a bill of complaint against John Bolden, 18 Grant Street, Frostburg. The papers were entered in court by Julius E. Schindler, attorney for Moran.

Moran stated that on or about February 20, 1955, he entered into an agreement with Bolden to lease the latter's blacksmith shop on Washington Street in Frostburg for one year from February 20 at $30 a month.

Subsequently, the agreement was renewed for a two-year period from March 20, 1956 until March 19, 1958. Under the agreement, Moran said, he is entitled to the peaceable and exclusive possession of the shop until March 19, 1958.

Because of economic conditions, Moran said, he got four months in arrears on his rent. Moran contends that he and Bolden then made a verbal agreement that he (Moran) would pay the $30 a month rental plus $10 a month on the arrearage until it was paid off. The arrearage has been reduced to $100.

This week, Moran charged, Bolden locked the doors of the blacksmith shop and kept him (Moran) off the premises.

Moran asks the court for a restraining order to keep Bolden from interfering with his use of the blacksmith shop until March 19, 1958. Chief Judge George Henderson yesterday signed an order giving Bolden 15 days to show cause why the restraining order should not be granted.

Union Local Endorses United Fund

Local 26, Rubber Workers' Union, has gone on record as endorsing the organization of a United Fund campaign, according to James Stein, president.

The resolution adopted by the Kelly union pledges that officers and members of Local 26 will do everything in their power to assist community leaders in the organization of the United Fund drive.

Members of Local 26, it says, believe the United Fund method of charity giving would be a great step in modernizing the charity setup of the community.

Plans are under way for the organization of a number of area chapters of the County United Fund.

The organization of a Keyser chapter is to be discussed at a meeting May 2 at 7 p. m. in the mayor's office there.

Daylight Time Scheduled In Sector Sunday

Clocks Advance One Hour At 2 A.M.; Train Schedules Change

The annual clock maneuvering time will be here at 2 a. m. Sunday.

That is when Daylight Saving Time comes around to make a few changes in the lives of those living in those areas adopting it.

Before going to bed Saturday night, residents of this section should move their clocks ahead one hour.

Gain An Hour

Daylight Time is a plan to gain an extra hour of summer sunshine. Some contend they are robbed of an hour.

The latter holds true for those individuals who rise early and who look forward to sunny mornings.

There is always some confusion. The B&O passenger schedules will remain on Eastern Standard Time, but a few times have been changed to conform with the advent of the fast time period.

Eastbound, No. 10 will leave at 3:50 a. m. DST, instead of 2:50 a. m. EST; Cleveland Night Express, 5:08 a. m., DST, instead of 4:08 a. m., EST; the combined 20-26, Cumberland - Ambassador, 6:02 a. m. DST, instead of 5:21 a. m., EST; Capitol Limited, 6:17 a. m., DST, instead of 5:26 a. m.; 31, daily except Sunday local to Washington, 8:10 a. m., DST, instead of 7:20 a. m., EST; Sunday local, 8:10 a. m. DST instead of 7:10 a. m. EST; No. 3, 1:15 p. m. DST, no change; No. 22, the Speedliner, 3:03 p. m., DST, no change; No. 12, 8:50 p. m. DST instead of 7:50 p. m., EST.

Westbound Changes

For westbound trains, the new times in Daylight times, compared with the present Eastern Standard times, are: No. 17, 1:33 a. m., no change; No. 7, 3:02 a. m., instead of 2:32 a. m.; No. 21, the Speedliner, 1:15 p. m., no change; No. 9, 5:30 p. m., instead of 5:50 p. m.; No. 5, Capitol Limited, 8:30 p. m., no change; Cumberland-Ambassador, 8:45 p. m., no change; No. 23 (Parkersburg), 2:15 p. m., instead of 1:40 a. m., and No. 11 (St. Louis), 12:47 p. m., instead of 11:47 a. m.

Allegheny Airlines will operate on Daylight Saving Time. The eastbound flight will leave at 10:55 a. m., instead of 11:05 a. m. The westbound flight will not change from its 1:23 p. m. time.

Greyhound Lines will remain on Standard Time. The only changes in the schedules will find the east bound bus now leaving at 10:40 a. m. departing at 11:25 a. m.; the westbound bus now leaving at 2:50 p. m. departing at 3:50 p. m., and the westbound 2:40 a. m. bus, leaving at 3:55 a. m.

Garrett Confusion

Bedford County will be on Daylight Time, but Garrett County will be a place of confusion.

There the city councils of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville and Crelin agreed to operate on fast time. Farmers will probably stay on "slow" time.

The Garrett County Commissioner's office will remain on Standard Time, but the offices of the county treasurer, clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court, Judge Neil C. Fraley, and the Board of Education will change to Daylight Time.

A referendum was held last fall on the Daylight Saving Time issue and it was defeated by a small majority.

But, the legislation calling for the referendum failed to say what would happen if it did not pass. Mineral County will be on fast time, but the South Branch Valley counties will remain on Standard Time.

Daylight time usually ends the last Saturday in September, but in Allegheny County the end of the fast time is in doubt.

A county bill passed in the General Assembly this past session will allow the Allegheny County Commissioners to extend fast time to the last Saturday in October to correspond with the large eastern metropolitan areas.

Canoe Trip Ends In River Dunking

WILLIAMSPORT, Md. (AP)—Two very damp but uninjured teenagers were pulled out of the Potomac River yesterday after they were swept over the Potomac Edison Co. dam near here.

Workers and members of the Williamsport Volunteer Fire Co. rescued William T. See, 18, and Daniel H. Johnson, both sons of officers at Ft. Meade, Md.

Dr. E. W. Dillo III, who examined the boys at Washington County Hospital, said they had left Cumberland on a canoe trip.

Witnesses reported that the boys were attempting to lower their boat over the dam when a strong undertow apparently swept them off their feet.

A member of the rescue party said one of the boys clung to the canoe in the middle of the river for about 45 minutes before he was finally reached and carried ashore.

SCOUTERS HONORED—These four veteran registered Scouters of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, received the highest award a scout council can make for exceptional service by adult leaders. The four men were presented Silver Beaver awards at the leader appreciation dinner held by the council last night at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club near Burlington.

City "Saved" Huge Outlay On Sewer Plan

The City of Cumberland has been saved the expenditure of about $250,000 as the result of the success of a 48-inch sanitary sewer in the bed of the old C&O Canal at the foot of Howard Street in withstanding the test load of 25 feet of fill.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, inspected the interior of the large sewer pipe yesterday after completion of test loading by the E. J. Albrecht Company.

He said the interior of the pipe did not show any cracks and that there was no evidence of lateral shifting or settlement under the weight of the fill.

The test loading included only a small area, but the actual fill will extend from Howard Street to the old Taylor Tin Plate site.

He said it is logical to assume that the pipe will stand up over its entire length, providing the condition of the rest of the line is equivalent to the test section, and that when it was laid some 22 years ago, a good bedding was provided.

The test loading was made at the suggestion of the Corps of Engineers with the understanding that if the results of the test were favorable, the contractor would be authorized to proceed with filling the canal.

Following the inspection, Nuzum notified R. E. Dexter, resident engineer of the Corps of Engineers, of the favorable report, and the latter said he would instruct the contractor to proceed with the fill.

Had the pipe failed to stand up under the test, the city would have faced extensive costs, estimated at a quarter of a million dollars, for relocating the sewer which runs from North Mechanic Street to South Cumberland.

Bonds Set For Assault Counts

Harvey C. Linn, RD 4, and Dewey Emerick, Valley Street, were committed to the county jail this morning in default of $2,500 bond each following a preliminary hearing before Magistrate J. Milton Dick on statutory rape charges.

The men, both in their 20's were arrested early yesterday morning on warrants which charged them with offenses against two 13-year-old girls after the girls had been taken to the Linn residence on Oldtown Road.

The men are being held for action by Magistrate Dick explained the action of the October grand jury. The girls are also being held under $500 bond each as material witnesses in the case.

EASTER SEAL LUCKY BUCKS NEEDED NOW

The next 73 bucks mailed for Easter Seals will be lucky for crippled children in Allegheny county because that's the number of dollars needed to make the 1957 seal campaign total $8,000.

Over 23,000 residents of Allegheny county received Easter Seals in the mail a month ago, and a check today showed $7,927 had been received in returns at headquarters.

Much more than $8,000 is needed, however, to finance treatment of crippled children in this section, and it is hoped that at least $10,000 will be received this year.

Don't hold back if you have not yet mailed your money for the seals. It's possible that the buck you haven't returned is the dollar that will be needed to reach this year's goal.

Four Scouters Presented Silver Beaver Awards

Four area men last night joined the select group who have been presented scouting's highest honor on a council level.

One of the features of the annual leadership appreciation dinner last night at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club, Keyser, was the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award to the four men.

Their names, kept secret until the Silver Beaver ceremony, are Henry W. Price, Cumberland District manager of the Potomac Council; Kirkland S. McKee, dean of Potomac State College, Keyser; Rev. John J. Atwell, Oakland, rector of five Episcopal churches in Garrett County; and Lester A. Shaffer, office manager of the Petersburg unit of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Church in Charge Dr. E. F. Church, president of Potomac State College, was in charge of the presentations.

He noted that Price has been active in scouting in Potomac Council and at Waynesboro, Pa., where he resided before coming here 25 years ago. He has been a member of the council executive board for 21 years and for the past 16 years has served as council treasurer.

In introducing Dean McKee, Dr. Church said he has been active in scouting on a local and council level for 30 years. He has been council training chairman since January 1953 and is a council vice president.

Rev. Mr. Atwell became active in scouting in 1951 as troop committee member. He became chairman of the Deep Creek District, a position he still holds. He is also a council vice president.

Shaffer, Dr. Church stated, has been Potomac Council's key contact in the South Branch area. He has organized packs and troops, conducted their charter reviews, and presentation, presided at boards of review and courts of honor, and conducted finance campaigns.

Proceeding the presentations, Dr. Church called upon the 15 living men who have won the Silver Beaver award, and then a memorial service was held for the six deceased winners of the honor.

Bowman Takes Part Paul Bowman, the Tri-Towns Explorer Scout, who will be the Potomac Council representative to the international Boy Scout jubilee in England this summer, participated.

He also spoke on the trip he will make to England and the continent.

The speaker, Col. Curtis L. Williams, deputy judge advocate of the Second Army, Fort Meade, was introduced by Rev. Mr. Atwell. He spoke on "Why Can Certain Men Rise Up and Become Leaders in Our Country?"

Williams said America looks to scouting to provide many of its leaders. He pointed out that surveys made in the Army show that two out of three leaders had scouting experience either as Scouts or Scouters.

Nuzum Presides Master of ceremonies was David K. Nuzum, Keyser, substituting for Dr. Thomas Bess, council president who is confined to his home near Keyser.

Liquor Board Issues 155 Beer Permits

One Application Refused; Protest Holds Up Another

The Allegheny County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners today completed issuance of licenses when it approved beer permits for 155 establishments.

One applicant, Alvin C. Green, who had asked for a Class D on and off sale beer license for premises on the McCoolle-Westernport Road, was denied a license because there are less than 500 persons residing within one mile of the establishment. The premises is located about one mile from McCoolle and was formerly the Melody Manor.

The application for an off-sale beer license for Snyder's Store and Service Station on Williams Road was held up due to a remonstrance filed against the license by 35 residents in the neighborhood.

The premises are owned by C. W. Laing, who had operated a service station at the location for many years. The remonstrance stated the location is too near Fort Hill High School and Constitution Park and is in a residential area. It was also stated that it is located across the road from property owned by the Second Baptist Church, which plans a mission Sunday School there.

Licenses were granted to five applicants for premises where beer had been sold previously by other licensees. They were granted to Lenora M. Tashenberger, Oldtown Road; Catherine M. Breedlove, Craddock Drive in Cresaptown; Michelle L. Scarpelli, 101 East Main Street, Frostburg; and John R. Purdy, 88 Queen Street, McCoolle and Virginia L. Dawson, Oldtown Road.

Twenty-nine of the beer licenses were for off-sale and 126 for on and off sale.

Motor Cause Of Store Fire

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker today said an investigation showed that the fire yesterday morning in the Sears Roebuck Company store here was caused by an overheated electric motor.

The motor, Chief Parker said, had been left running from about noon Wednesday and broke into flames around midnight that day. The first fire call was made by police at approximately 5:45 a. m. yesterday, thus giving the fire about a six-hour head start, the chief said.

Once the blaze began, some paint cans about a foot away ignited causing an unusually hot fire, Chief Parker explained, adding that the paint was probably the reason the fire burned through the floor.

Store officials today said the fire did not delay the opening of a sale last night, adding that several hundred shoppers attended the opening.

J. M. West, assistant manager, also said that no estimate had been made on the fire damage, since work along that line was pending the arrival of company auditors.

The damage, West continued, is greater than at first had been realized, since the fire had injured stock in the rear of the third floor. This had not been expected since the blaze was mostly confined to the front of the structure.

Potomac Unit Stalled On Basin Plans

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin has been stalled in moves to obtain more authority and finances with which to wage its fight against pollution.

The water control boards of the five states who created the commission, have given the proposals a courteous but cool reception.

The latest rebuff came from the West Virginia Water Commission during a meeting with basin commission representatives at Charleston on Tuesday.

Vesting police power in the interstate body "probably would not be helpful," the West Virginians said. And if any additional West Virginia money is to be made available to the commission, "we would rather have it than see it given to another jurisdiction."

The state body indicated its chief concern "revolves around the over-all use of water within the basin—for agricultural, industrial, municipal and recreational purposes." It would like to see the interstate agency expand its research and planning activities in that direction—but without additional state funds.

West Virginia contributes $6000 yearly toward the commission's $30,000 budget.

The response of Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania, also drained by the Potomac, has ranged from lukewarm interest to downright opposition. The commission has only advisory powers and acts through the water control agencies of those four states and the District of Columbia.

Many sanitary experts feel that present heavy pollution of the Potomac could be reduced through adoption of a master plan for the entire basin, with enforcement powers placed in a single body, rather than five independent jurisdictions.

The commission, as set up, can receive additional powers only from these jurisdictions.

Representing the river body at the Charleston meeting were Chairman Henry I. Rogers; David V. Auld and Lee Dante from the District of Columbia; Lawrence Fisher for U. S. Public Health Service and Ellis Tisdale, ICRPB director.

ABL Supports United Fund

The Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory Charity Fund Committee has voted unanimously to affiliate with the County United Fund, according to Mrs. Mildred Martin, chairman.

Mrs. Martin said the ABL fund policy will not change and that all charitable organizations in nearby Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia will continue to be considered in the distribution of money.

"By becoming a unit in the County United Fund we continue our single drive principle," said Mrs. Martin. "Thus through this affiliation we support a worthy community project and protect employees from solicitation at home through the use of window stickers showing United Fund contribution."

Parkway Leader Receives Honor

The Department of Interior's highest honor was presented to two National Capital Parks officials, one of them a pioneer in the C&O Canal Parkway proposal.

He is Harry T. Thompson, associate superintendent of the National Capital Parks, who received the department's Distinguished Service Award.

In addition to his C&O Canal Parkway work, he was cited for distinguished work on a number of projects.

He was also singled out for his efforts in connection with the four Italian bronze equestrian statues near the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Carillon, a gift from the people of Netherlands.

The 59-year-old associate superintendent has been with the National Capital Service since 1934.

Seek Purse Snatcher

City police are seeking a youth who grabbed a purse from Mrs. Richard Welker yesterday in front of her home on Shriver Avenue. Welker screamed and threw the purse into a yard on Howard Street where it was recovered with the contents intact.

"Idle Money" Investments Bring $5,000

Additional Revenue Earned In Three Quarters Of Year

Through short-term investment of bond money, the City of Cumberland has picked up nearly $5,000 in additional revenue during the first three quarters of the current fiscal year.

This comes about when the city floats a bond issue and receives the money in a lump sum to be doled out from time to time to the particular project for which the funds were borrowed.

Ordinarily this would mean that the city will have on its hands "idle money" until the payments to contractors came due.

But, according to Arthur B. Gibson, the money does not lay in the bank.

The finance department invests these bond funds in short-term U. S. Treasury bills. They are bought so as to mature before the money is needed for the various projects.

During the first nine months of this year, the city has realized $4,963.50 in interest on these invested funds.

One item in the three-quarter report of John J. Long, city finance commissioner, presented to the Mayor and Council, shows interest of $1,888.25 being received on the investment of $248,011.75.

A total of $735 in interest was received on the short-term investment of $99,265 of the money being held by the Water Department for the Lake Gordon Filtration plant improvements.

In invested sewage treatment plant funds amounting to $227,579.75, interest came to $2,240.25.

Board Grants Machine Use

Only a few routine matters were transacted today at the meeting of the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners.

Mrs. Edgar Matthews appeared before the board to request the county to loan a compressor and drill to the Mr. Olive Church, located on Bear Hill Road near Oldtown, to drill a hole for the foundation for an addition to the church. The commissioners authorized J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor, to loan the equipment to the church.

R. H. Mann, of Avenue E, Potomac Park, appeared before the board to request repairs to the roadway. It developed that the property owners along the roadway have not all granted rights of ways to the county so that the county could work the thoroughfare properly.

John Purdy appeared before the board to inquire about the placing of a 36-inch drainage pipe on property he owns on Maryland Avenue in McCoolle. Purdy will furnish the pipe and the county will install it with Purdy being responsible for having it covered. About two feet of the pipe will be on the county right of way and the balance will be on Purdy's property.

group during the first three weeks abroad."

Interest in the tour has grown tremendously in the last week and it seems certain that the May 1 deadline will find all reservations taken—nearly four months before the European jaunt is scheduled to start.

A first payment of $100 is due next week and should be made to the Conlon Agency, Pershing Street.

Despite the fact that six countries (Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Switzerland and Italy) will be visited in three weeks, there will be ample time for rest, and the only walking required, is "in such places as Kensington Gardens; the gardens of the Palace of Versailles and through such places as Edinburgh Castle, the Louvre, St. Peter's and the Vatican, and other public buildings, castles and museums."

Total cost of the tour will not exceed $1000 per person.

Inquiry at the Times-News office will bring complete information and a fairly complete itinerary will be ready for distribution by Saturday.

New Licenses Issued By County Liquor Board

Walter C. Capper officiated yesterday and today for the last time as chairman of the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

Estel C. Kelley, local attorney and a member of the Allegany County delegation to the state legislature until the end of the recent session, has been named to the board. A chairman of the board, Waingold and Georgia Myers for will be elected at the first meeting of the board, which will convene on May 1.

The liquor board began issuing new licenses yesterday to operators of establishments with beer, wine and liquor permits. During the afternoon permits for places was granted renewal of her beer which sell beer and wine will receive their licenses while today is set aside for holders of beer licenses only.

County Office Holders Get Commissions

Capper Statement

Capper made the following statement as the board convened yesterday in the main court room at the Court House:

"You probably do not recall that, since the law was passed by the January, 1947 Legislature, this is the 10th year in which you have been called before this board to secure your licenses. In that law your present chairman was named as chairman of the newly-formed liquor board and has continued in that capacity ever since. Your chairman will very shortly retire from his duties as such and this will, therefore, be my last opportunity to speak to you as Licensees.

"I have, on practically every occasion, advised you that the holding of an alcoholic beverage license in Allegany County is not a matter of right at all. You have no property right in a license. It is simply a privilege given to you by the State of Maryland through the Legislature and the board, to sell alcoholic beverages so long as you are permitted to hold that license.

Notes Cooperation

"We have also stressed on many occasions the fact that we, as a board, appreciate very much the manner in which the large majority of you, ladies and gentlemen, have cooperated with the board and endeavored in every respect to comply with the law. We know that many of you have arranged for closing your places before midnight so that you would take no chance in making sales or displaying bottles and drinks on the bar after midnight. I wish to say that the board has placed confidence in you as licensees and has supported all licensees who have not deliberately violated the law.

"The enforcement of the alcoholic beverages law in Allegany County in a proper and effective manner is a matter of great importance to the people. Much sorrow and unhappiness can be caused by loose enforcement of the liquor law.

"I wish to say to you in quitting this important post after a service of ten years, I have been glad to have had a part in enforcing to the best of the board's ability, the liquor laws of Allegany County."

Approved yesterday were 112 beer, wine and liquor licenses and 26 beer and wine licenses.

The liquor licenses included nine Class A off sale permits, 50 Class C club-type licenses and 53 Class D (tavern) licenses. The county is allowed 60 club-type licenses but has all of the commercial types available.

The beer and wine licenses include 11 Class A off sale and 23 Class D on and off sale.

Only application not approved yesterday was one filed by Alice

Most Crafts Complete New Work Pacts

The Building and Construction Trades Council reported at a special meeting last night in the Labor Temple that all but three member craft unions have signed contracts. Negotiations on the other pacts will not hold up work on May 1, the contract deadline.

Harry L. Hickie, president of the council, said all crafts except the Plumbers and Steamfitters, Operating Engineers and Electricians unions are signed up.

Local 489, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, has scheduled a meeting today at 8 p.m. to discuss wage negotiations.

Hickie, who is business agent of Local 37-B, Operating Engineers, said his craft has a verbal agreement.

Last night's meeting, he said, was held to receive reports on the contracts negotiated by the affiliated locals.

He said the officials of the unions reported the negotiations will not hold up any work on May 1.

Wage increases secured in the talks, he said, will average about 25 cents an hour, bringing the average rate for skilled trades to about $3 an hour.

Reports on the wage scales which will become effective next Wednesday have not yet been turned over to the Council, Hickie said.

Local 453, Teamsters Union, has completed negotiations on its construction contract and will receive a 35-cent increase over the year's period on new jobs.

The contract calls for $1.93 on May 1 for drivers of straight or dump trucks under five yards, and $2.08 on November 1. Euclid drivers will get $2.26½ on May 1 and $2.41½ on November 1.

Wage scales covering Local 616, Laborers Union, call for $1.80 for common labor on May 1 and $1.95 on November 1, with $1.90 and $2.05 for semi-skilled work. The present scale is $1.60 and $1.70.

All contracts will include 7½ cents an hour for the health and welfare plan, Hickie said.

Attending Conference

The annual conference of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCA units at Buck Hill, Pa., is being attended by B. U. Smith, general secretary; Lawrence H. Dehn, program secretary, and Mrs. Thelma L. Swartzwelder, board secretary of Central YMCA here. They left today for the three-day session.

Top TV Quiz Show Rated Consistent

O'Brian Selects "What's My Line" As Best Of Season

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Don't ask us yet which quiz show we think rates the "Best of the Year" title because we'd like to think about it for a bit over the typewriter.

In the first place, and we mean first, Groucho Marx and "You Bet Your Life" must be ruled out because we maintain it is not a quiz show at all but a sneaky plot to keep Groucho in a constantly changing set of stogoes.

Last year it was "The $64,000 Question," and in some degree this year it still is, but we aren't yet certain.

"The $64,000 Challenge" also is getting slightly out of cerebral hands.

"I've Got a Secret" doesn't rate inclusion as quiz show.

"What's My Line" still stays at the top or the heap without much trouble, and without changing much beyond an occasional chair.

Its top prize of $50 now seems silly in comparison with the fancy philanthropies of the newer quizzes, but no one shows any indication of fattening up the lure which seems sturdy enough to keep it among the top rated shows on the air.

"Masquerade Party" is another transparent device to catch laughter and well known participants.

Jack Barry, fired from "The Big Surprise," rallied from that emotional setback to see "The Big Surprise" fail and fall into the discard while his own new TV creation, "21," came on like gangbusters, mostly because of Charles Van Doren, the Elvis Presley of the intelligentsia.

"To Tell the Truth" is an amusing and interesting panel game, in which the panelists attempt to figure out which of three claimants is the one he says he is.

Daytimes, Jack Barry grins and bounces genially through "Tic Tac Dough," a modest but amiable question bee.

Musical quizzes keep pepping in and out of TV.

"The Big Surprise" lost its surprise, and its prize, and its sponsor, and its network.

Still, we must finally make up our mind, and we hereby select "What's My Line" as the best quiz show of 1956-57 on the simple basis of consistency.

Familiarity breeds contempt, and a number of our readers write in regularly to berate its presence on the air. Some hate John Daly. Others want to know why Dorothy Kilgallen can stay out so late when she has to be up so early next day to have her regular breakfast of radio and doughnuts with Dick.

Bennett Cerf's puns destroy others, always did.

But we notice on Sunday nights we generally turn on "What's My Line" and watch it for the fun of the game.

Forest Camp Plans Ready For Builders

Drawings and specifications for the two proposed new state boys forestry camps in Garrett County are nearing completion and James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Department of Public Improvements, anticipates that they will be in the hands of the contractors in about two weeks.

A total of $100,000 was provided in the General Construction Loan of 1956 for the two camps. Of this amount $39,000 is for construction and $11,000 for equipment.

Each camp will accommodate 25 boys and the necessary supervisory personnel. Eventually, O'Donnell said, each camp will be composed of three basic buildings. One will contain the dining hall and kitchen, hobby room and recreation room and small laundry.

The second will include dormitory, toilet, shower rooms, counselor room and locker room. The third will be for staff, with living facilities for supervisory and training personnel.

O'Donnell explained that it also will be necessary to provide sanitary disposal facilities, water supply and electricity.

It is anticipated that the contract will include only the basic shells and absolutely essential facilities for housing the boys during the warmer season. The boys themselves, during the warm weather, will apply the finish, considerable of the interior partitioning, insulation, painting as well as trimming the grounds in general and perhaps the installation of parts of the utilities which primarily involve simple work.

The drawings call for bids on two bases. One is for prefabricated sheet metal shells to be erected by the contractor. The other basic bid envisions the erection of a frame building similar to army barracks buildings.

The two main buildings will be basic in both instances. The third

TV Audience To Be Taken Into Prison

Edward R. Murrow To Interview Warden Of Alcatraz On "Rock"

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (INS)—Unless you care to launch a life of crime, it's extremely difficult to visit Alcatraz, the federal penitentiary on a rocky island in San Francisco Bay. It's even more difficult to leave it.

After months of negotiations with federal officials, however, Jesse Zousmer and John Aaron, coproducers of Edward R. Murrow's Person to Person (CBS-TV), have arranged to take the viewing audience there next Friday night.

Specifically, Murrow will interview Warden J. Madigan and his wife in their 17-room house a few feet from the prison walls.

Person to Person has done some difficult remote telecasts, but none as unusual as this. Zousmer, returning after a two-day survey on the Rock, is impressed by the fact that the warden and his wife are "a happy couple who don't think their job is unusual even though it's impossible ever to relax on that island."

Early next Friday a Person to Person crew of 25 begins moving between two and three tons of equipment to Alcatraz by small boat.

The warden was warned, said Zousmer, that the technicians will bring practically everything that is normally forbidden on Alcatraz—ladders, saws, knives, chisels, scissors, wire.

"The warden said to bring anything we needed," Zousmer said. "Only one thing is verboten—cameras. Television cameras are okay. But a personal camera, I think he'll have that prison locked up tight. I mean I hope he'll have it locked up tight. And we'll be outside the walls, you understand."

A couple of guards will be assigned to the crew to make sure they don't wander around too much. A special caterer is being brought from San Francisco to serve meals to the crew. They will leave the island after the show and return for their equipment the next morning.

Structure for the supervisory personnel will be added only if funds are ample. It may be that this entire building will become a boys training project.

O'Donnell explains that all of the work to be done by the boys will be threefold in purpose. It will provide training and education, provide a gainful task and at the same time create facilities at a minimal cost.

The first such forestry camp for boys transferred from the state training schools was opened in Green Ridge Forest in Allegany County in May 1955. Next will come one just four miles west of Lonaconing in Garrett County. The third will be located on Meadow Mountain at New Germany. Ralph D. Swanger of Friendsville was appointed last week as director of the camp west of Lonaconing.

County Building Permits Number 22 In Two Weeks

Twenty-two building permits accounting for a total of $117,750 in construction costs have been issued in the past two weeks by the Allegany County Assessing Department.

Fourteen of the 21 permits were for construction of new dwellings, one of which also will be equipped with a carport. The estimated costs ranged from $2,000 to $16,000. Other permits authorized construction of a sawmill, a storage, a cabin, a garage, an addition to a dwelling, remodeling of a dwelling, a tool shed and enclosure of a porch.

The construction was authorized in nine election districts of the county. District 29 at LaVale was the leader with six, followed by Districts 21 at Gross, Baltimore Pike, and 5, North End suburban, each with three. Districts 26, Bowling Green-Potomac Park; 26, Frowburg suburban, and 16, North Branch. A single permit was issued in District 24, Eckhart; District 22, East Side suburban; District 7, Cresaptown; Rawlings; and District 20, Ellerslie.

Those issued dwelling permits included Earl and Viva Lancaster, RD 3; Grover Yohn, Rawlings; Henry Dressman, LaVale; two, one in LaVale and the other in the North End area just beyond the Piedmont Avenue city limits; Don Mary, RD 2, Hinkle Road; Donald Workman, LaVale; Harry Vernon Miller, Voke Road; Esten P. Paxton, RD 2, Williams Road; Clarence W. Riley, Cresaptown; Howard A. Grimm, RD 4; George O. Thrush, 606 Shriver Avenue, two dwellings in LaVale; Everett B. Elliott, RD 3, and Albert Lynch, RD 1, Voke Road.

Jurors To Get Dombrosky Case

The case against Raymond C. Cook, 21, who is accused of slaying Eugene F. Dombrosky, former Cumberland man, will be taken before a grand jury in Baltimore next week, according to State's Attorney J. Harold Grady.

Dombrosky, 41-year-old father of nine, was shot to death in an East Baltimore alley Friday night.

At Cook's arraignment Monday, police said Dombrosky was killed with a gun which Cook had offered to sell him for $10.

Grady's decision to take the case directly to the grand jury will result in the by-passing of a preliminary hearing which had been scheduled in Homicide Court.

Powis Certain He'll Succeed In Big Time

By HOWARD SIGMUND
NEW YORK (INS) — A 29-year-old rookie with a .137 batting average normally would be getting ready to pack his traveling bags for a trip back to the "farm." But not so with Carl Powis, Baltimore Oriole outfielder.

"I'm going to make the big time because I want to make big money," the rugged-looking Dayton, O., rightfielder declared yesterday.

Powis, the spring hitting sensation of the Orioles, has made only three hits in 22 trips in seven games since the regular season began, but the outspoken ex-GI isn't giving up on himself.

Wants To Play

"I don't like being a minor league player. My ambition was to play in the big leagues and I aim to stay. And don't like to sit on the bench. I want to play first string."

Powis insisted he doesn't fear facing big league pitching.

"I don't care who's pitching," he said. "When I go to the plate I convince myself I'm going to hit the pitcher. I've hit the ball well a few times but the hits haven't come yet. I know they will."

400-Foot Out

Powis went 0-for-4 in his Yankee Stadium debut against the World Champions. One of his outs was a towering 400-foot smash to left field.

He said that playing in big parks didn't bother him.

"If you hit the ball good it will go out of any park," Powis said.

Manager Paul Richards gave Powis the right field job on the basis of his hitting in the high '300's throughout the exhibition grind.

"If Powis shows he can hit good pitching he'll keep the job," Richards said.

Powis is good defensively, fast, and has a powerful arm.

Washington Senator manager Charley Dressen, who got his first look at Carl in the season's opener, declared:

"The guy looks like a bantam, but he's got a shotgun arm."

330 For San Antonio

Powis hit .330 for San Antonio in the Texas League last season. He belted 22 homers and drove in 94 runs.

The six-foot, 185-pound right-hander motored down from his Ohio home to the Oriole training camp two years ago, but Richards decided to farm him out for more seasoning.

Powis went to Portland in the Pacific Coast League, where he batted only .268. But after his 1956 showing at San Antonio and his spring slugging this season, the jut-jawed outfielder won a regular job tentatively, at least.

"If I don't do it this time I guess I've had it," Powis maintains. "I'm 29 now and there's not much time left for me to get up into the big bucks. I've got to make it. I got married recently."

Love Of Game, Not Stars, Lures Fans, Believes Lopez

By BOB GLASS
CHICAGO (INS) — Al Lopez, manager of the first place Chicago White Sox, declared today that baseball fans do not go out to watch players like Mickey Mantle or Ted Williams but go "for love of the game."

"Everyone has his own reason for going to games," Lopez said, but added:

Drawn By Interest

"There is no one player who is such a great drawing card that fans go to see just him. Sure, every one has his favorites but fans are drawn to games by the excitement and team interest rather than the individual performances of just one man."

Lopez flatly rejected the belief that Mantle (New York Yankee center fielder) is the reason a lot of people go to see the Yankees play.

Sitting on the edge of the dugout, Lopez half smiled and said:

"Mantle hits a long ball. We all know that. But a lot of players hit for distance. I've seen our own Larry Doby hit balls about 500 feet and I've seen Harry Simpson (Kansas City outfielder) hit balls as far as Mantle."

The Sox field boss declared that "as long as the Yankees are pennant contenders and win the World Series, they are going to draw." Williams (Boston Red Sox left fielder) is having another great year, Lopez said but explained:

"He (Williams) is another good ball player but if he draws anybody, it is because his team is doing well. Nobody likes to see a loser no matter who is on the team."

Lopez added:

"Babe Ruth was a terrific drawing card. He was always doing something spectacular on and off the field. Along came Joe DiMaggio and they all said, he was a great drawing card. But fans like the game and there is a lot more to baseball than just hitting a homer."

The White Sox manager asserted that "Mantle certainly can not give a crowd thrills the way Willie Mays (New York Giant center fielder) can nor could Mantle compare with Jackie Robinson as far as keeping fans on the edge of their seats."

Lopez said:

"For my money, I'd rather watch Mays. He's one of the greatest hitters I've ever seen. And what's more, he's graceful. He's very fast. He's a real artist."

"As for Robinson, I don't think I ever saw another player thrill fans like he did. He was always trying to steal a base or make a pitcher nervous. He made the entire crowd baseball conscious when he was on the diamond."

Lopez said he was not giving Mantle a bum rap but questioned Mantle's ability to run on bases and do anything else besides hit.

Lopez continued:

Steal of Second Tops

"If there is anything more spectacular than seeing a runner trying to steal second base I don't know what it would be. There are a lot of power hitters, but there are only a handful with the adeptness of Mays and Robinson."

Lopez asked:

"How many people go out to a game to watch two great pitchers. There was never a more colorful pitcher than Dizzy Dean, and Carl Hubbell was a picture of rhythm to watch. Today there's Newcombe (Don) Roberts (Robin) Spahn (Warren) Pierce (Billy)

Don Larsen's Trouble Lone Stengel Worry

NEW YORK (INS) — Fifteen other major league managers wish they had the problems of Casey Stengel, pilot of the world champion New York Yankees.

His only concern, he admitted today, is the condition of Don (Perfect Game) Larsen.

"There's nothing wrong with Larsen's arm," he rasped. "It's control. He just doesn't have it. He's not throwing hard and is fooling around on the mound, that is. He relaxes and comes through with that soft pitch. I can't depend on that."

"He's just trying to be dainty. He falls behind a batter and then comes in with a fat one."

"My man Bob Turley, on the other hand, has been throwing hard but he can't get the ball exactly where he wants to. But they'll both come through. I know them both and what they have."

All this was by way of explanation to Stengel as he watched two worthies are being sidetracked.

"I got 11 pitchers," he explained. "Three are going good — Whitey Ford, Johnny Kucks, and Tom Sturdivant. So I'm pitching them against the Red Sox."

"I want five pitchers I know I can start and finish, or who will at least go a long way. I might lean to Bobby Shantz and Art Ditmar. They've been pitching good ball for me, but I want to see if they can keep it up. And I want to know by June, not September."

"That rookie, Al Cicotte, has looked good too. He's another one I want to find out more about."

Casper Leading In Derby Open

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (INS) — Sparkling Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., held a one-stroke lead today going into the third round of play in the $30,000 Kentucky Derby golf tournament.

Firing a three under par 68 yesterday for the second day in a row, Casper took the lead away from Walker Homan Jr., who slumped badly with a 72 after an opening day 67.

Casper, with 136, is followed by Australia's Peter Thomson and former open champion Jack Fleck of Rochester, Mich. Both Thomson and Fleck shot 68s to give them a two-round total of 137.

Art Wall Jr., of Peconic Manor, Pa., was next with 138. He fired yesterday's best game with a 66.

Twenty-one-year-old Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., came up with a hole-in-one on the 229-yard fifth hole to finish the round at 69 for a total of 140. The hall landed in the cup on the fly.

In 1956, there were 57 extra-inning games in the Southern Assn. The longest game went 16 innings.

Player Of Day Ted Williams, Rated As Best Hitter In Game, Batting .455

By International News Service

Ted Williams is the sort of rugged individualist who'd rather go fishing than play baseball for $100,000 a year.

The 38-year-old Boston Red Sox outfielder also is handsome enough to play in the movies hero roles that possibly would not equal his own experiences as a flier in two wars.

And while he is gracious enough at times to charm even the most reluctant onlooker, he's just as likely to flail away with a verbal axe and let the chips fall where they may.

In short, the man who began life on Aug. 30, 1918, in San Diego, Calif., is an enigma.

But there is one thing certain about the 6-4, 195-pound Williams: —he is the greatest hitter in baseball today.

Before this season began, he owned a lifetime batting average of .340. He had three hits in three times at bat yesterday to lift his 1957 mark to .455, tops in the American League.

He has hit 421 homers in his big league career, which works out to one homer for every 15.5 official times at bat.

He started in pro ball with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League in 1936, reached the majors in 1939 and has been with Boston ever since except for three years as a Marine flier in World War II and 15 months of service during the Korean conflict.

He has won the home run, the runs-batted-in and the hitting titles four times each and was the last major leaguer to hit .400 or better when in 1941 he tallied the ball for a .406 average.

Brooklyn Ace Not Worrying Over Failures

By The Associated Press

COLONIA, N. J. (U. N. — Don Newcombe isn't worried about the two poundings he took in his first two mound appearances of the infant baseball season. He's more annoyed by the stories indicating there is something wrong with him physically and mentally.

"Where do these writers get off saying such silly things?" grumbled the big Brooklyn pitcher at his home today before the Brooks, explained for a night game in Pittsburgh.

"Nobody bothered to ask me. If they did I would tell them there's absolutely nothing wrong with me. Sure, I've got a little soreness in my pitching arm, but no more than I've had every year at this time since I joined Brooklyn in 1949. You check back through my career with the Dodgers and you'll find that I never have been able to get off to a real good start."

"Just because I didn't get to pitch against the Yankees in the spring exhibition games, one fellow wrote that I was scared to face them because of what they did to me in the World Series. I call that hitting below the belt. As if I have anything to say about what clubs I am to pitch against."

"All he had to do was to ask Alston (Manager Walter Alston), but he had to have a sensational story, one that gives the fans the impression that Don Newcombe has no guts. Okay, so it doesn't matter how I feel about it but I wonder if he ever stopped to think how my son would feel reading such a story about his dad."

Farrell Feels Tribe To Win With Big Four

By BOB GLASS

CHICAGO (INS)—Kerby Farrell, freshman manager of the Cleveland Indians, declared today that his team can win the American League pennant "with only four starting pitchers."

"I've got four tough hurlers who aren't afraid to work," Farrell said, and added:

"Every manager says he must have at least five starters but I've got four of the best in the league."

Farrell smiled when asked who he could count on when he got past Ewly Wynn, Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Herb Score, and said:

"My answer to that is the two best relievers in baseball—Ray Narleski and Don Mossi."

Quartet Likes To Work

Score, who hurled the Indians to a 5 to 0 win over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday, typified the attitude of the "Big Four."

"I like to work every fourth day," Score said, and added:

"If I don't get a lot of work, then I'm no good. I get stale. The first day after I pitch I take it easy. The second day I go to the sidelines and throw a little. Then on the third day I throw in the bullpen for about five innings. On the fourth day I'm ready to take my regular turn."

Garcia, called the "Bear" by his teammates, is another example of how hard work pays off. Farrell said. He explained:

"Mike had a couple of bad years, but this spring he's been pretty effective. The other day, he tossed six good innings at Detroit. When he doesn't have to work, he's out there anyway with Mel Harder (pitching coach) going through pitching motion. Most pitchers think when you've been around you know all there is to know. But not Mike, he's still learning."

Wynn, Lemon Work Hard

Wynn and Lemon were described by Farrell as "the two hardest workers on the club."

"You never see them standing around," Farrell said, and added:

"They take their job seriously. When they're not pitching, they're shagging flies or running. During the spring, when Wynn wasn't pitching, he'd be in the outfield running. Then he would come in and throw, and then go right back and run some more."

Farrell asserted that as far as pitching is concerned, the Tribe "is a lot deeper than people think." He said he had to send down Hank Aguirre and Bud Daley to San Diego on option, but predicted they'd be back to help the club.

"Right now, I'm experimenting with Dick Tomaneck and Stan Pitula, a couple of rookies. I had them at Indianapolis last year. I think they'll be great, but I can't find out by keeping them on the bench so I had to send down a couple of good pitchers."

Farrell said he has eight rookies on the 28-man squad who performed at Indianapolis last year and said that Roger Maris (left fielder) and Larry Raines (shortstop) should stick.

piest Millionaire," currently running on Broadway, captained the Lehigh basketball team in 1916.

A big grin broke out on Pittsburgh pitcher Roy Face's face when he learned that Noren was traded to Kansas City, but it rapidly disappeared when he discovered it was Irv and not Wall Moryn of the Cubs, who hit him as though he owned him last season.

Phils' Robin Roberts 'Own Worst Enemy'

NEW YORK (NEA)—Robin Roberts, who throws so many home run pitches that even his own manager, Mayo Smith, is on him about it, could take a few hints from the New York Giants.

After beating Roberts the first time they faced him this season, the Giants noted that the Phillie pitcher is his own worst enemy.

"He never brushes anybody back, so hitters dig in against him," an old Polo Grounder said. "Add this to the fact he's losing some of that stuff, what with throwing 300 innings every year, and you have the reason."

Al Evans To Begin 20th Year In Game

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Al Evans, new manager of the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association, is in his 20th season in baseball. He started pro ball in 1938 with Charlotte, N. C., and the following year finished with Washington.

His best year was 1949 when he batted .271.

Last year Evans managed Abilene, Texas, in the Big State League. His team finished fifth, winning 73 and losing 67.

Round Table Win Aids Derby Hopes

LEXINGTON, Ky. (INS)—Round Table's spectacular victory in the $31,000 Blue Grass Stakes boosted the three-year-old colt's chances considerably to day for next Saturday's 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby.

The Kentucky-bred colt streaked home first yesterday at the Keeneland track to nail down the $20,100 first prize. The Travis Kerr-owned thoroughbred set a new track mark of 1:47 2/5 for the mile and one-eighth distance. The old standard of 1:49 was set in 1953 by Correspondent.

Backed as an even-money favorite, Round Table paid $4 to win and $2.60 to place. There was no show wagering in the six-horse field. Cain Hoy Stable's One-Eyed-King was second, a good six lengths off the winner's pace and Manteau grabbed the show position.

Middies Hit Goal, Quit After 17 Days

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Navy probably will do all right on the football field next season. After 17 days of spring practice Coach Eddie Erdelatz called off drills "Mike had a couple of bad years, but this spring he's been pretty effective. The other day, he tossed six good innings at Detroit. When he doesn't have to work, he's out there anyway with Mel Harder (pitching coach) going through pitching motion. Most pitchers think when you've been around you know all there is to know. But not Mike, he's still learning."

Tom Forrestal will be the No. 1 quarterback. Last year he had to battle two other signal callers. The Middies will have 24 players back from the 1956 squad, 15 of them letter winners.

"Practice was scheduled for 20 days," says Erdelatz. "We set ourselves a goal and accomplished that goal—so we quit."

Elks Will Sponsor Team In Stove Loop This Year

The Hot Stove Baseball League will again operate with eight clubs this season with the securing of a sponsor, Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, for the eighth team. Elks supplanted Cumberland Times-News which withdrew at the end of the 1956 campaign.

Earl Nonnenmann, president, also announced that six of the eight teams have chosen managers with only Elks and B'nai B'rith not as yet having pilots. Handling the clubs will be Joe Gallen, Rotary; Wayne White, Kiwanis; Louis Marralle, Optimist; George Flynn, Jaycees; John Daum, Lions, and Joe Felten and Evan Smith, Exchange.

The season will get underway the last week in May with each club playing a 21-game slate. Each team will play two games a week, one at 4 p. m. and the other at 6 p. m., with double-headers listed for Tuesday and Thursday nights at Penn Avenue Field. There will be no Sunday contests this season.

As in the past year all players will be covered by insurance. It was also decided to enforce the rule regarding out-of-town players after this season. The change will not affect those drafted from the Dapper Dan Little League for this season as they have two years of eligibility in the Stove circuit. Effective next campaign no players will be drafted who are not bona fide city residents.

'Mac' Pitt Enjoys Steady Employment

RICHMOND, Va.—Mac Pitt is in his 22nd season as coach of the University of Richmond baseball team.

In point of service, he's the old-timer, says Erdelatz. "We set ourselves a goal and accomplished that goal—so we quit."

Berrios 2 To 1 Favorite Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Miguel Berrios and Hogan (Kid) Bassey, a pair of rugged mites, clash tonight in the next-to-last bout of the world featherweight championship elimination tournament.

Berrios was the overnight favorite at odds up to 2-1. Bassey, the British Empire feather titleholder, has done all his fighting abroad and few, if any, in these parts have seen him work. Neither Bassey nor Berrios has watched the other in action.

The winner will tackle first-ranked contender Cherif Hannia of France for the 126 pound championship piloted by Sandy Sadler. Sadler stepped out when doctors found his eyes weren't what they should be.

The 12-round bout, at Capitol Arena, will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC, 10 p. m. EST).

Thirty Cars Entered In Stock Car Classic

DARLINGTON, S. C.—Two more NASCAR convertible race drivers, Al Tinsady, Vineland, N. J., and Lonnie Fish, Angier, N. C., have signed to compete in the $20,300 Rebel convertible stock car classic at Darlington, S. C. Raceway May 11.

Tinsady will drive a Plymouth and Fish a Chevrolet. Plymouth now has a total of six entrants and Chevrolet nine. Ford still leads the entry list with 11 of the 30 race cars entered being of that make.

Tomorrow's contest is the only one in the area with Frostburg and Chevrolet nine. Ford still leads the entry list with 11 of the 30 race cars entered being of that make.

Morris Harvey Drops Football

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Morris Harvey College, frequently a rough ice in small school football circles in recent years, is dropping the sport because of a "sizeable deficit" charged to it.

The board of trustees adopted at a meeting yesterday a recommendation by President Leonard Riggelman that "intercollegiate football be discontinued immediately."

The move came in the face of a 10-game 1957 schedule, which promised to be one of the most attractive in a Golden Eagle pigskin history dating back to 1906, when the school was at Barboursville.

Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—Three former major league players — Steve Souchock at Binghamton, Jo Jo White at Reading and Mike McCormick at Springfield, Mass. — are managing in the Eastern League this season.

The other league pilots are Dick Carter at Schenectady, Ed Popowski at Albany and Frank Calo at Syracuse. Calo will do some catching for the Syracuse team.

The City Rec Department will act as a clearing house for the scheduling of fields within the city for practices and practice games.

Teams wishing to secure fields should contact the department which is located on the second floor of City Hall or by phoning PA 2-7360. Only regularly-scheduled practices through the department will entitle a team to the field assigned.

D. C. Tunnel Plan Downed

Engineer Urges Six-Lane Bridge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A four-lane Potomac River tunnel at Constitution Avenue would be filled to capacity the day it opened, a Senate District subcommittee was told yesterday.

This prediction came from Lloyd A. Rivard, assistant planning engineer for the District Highway Department. He presented the District commissioners' argument for a six-lane bridge during the third and final day of subcommittee hearings on two bills.

One calls for a four-lane fixed-span bridge with the federal government paying 90 per cent of the cost and the district 10 per cent. A Constitution Avenue bridge was held up in Congress last year by a dispute over whether it should be fixed-span or draw. Sen. Beall (R-Md.), a subcommittee member, suggested that a tunnel appeared the only way to resolve the argument over the type of bridge.

Noted Author Speaks In State

BALTIMORE (AP)—Novelist John Dos Passos speaks today at a luncheon of the Maryland Library Assn.

The association opens its two-day annual meeting in the Hotel Emerson. The librarians will discuss standards of public library service.

Maurice B. Mitchell, president of the Encyclopedia Films, Inc., will address a dinner meeting tonight on "Communications—Twentieth Century Challenge to Librarians."

State College Enrollment To Reach 40,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Lowell S. Ensor, president of Western Maryland College, last night predicted a total enrollment of 40,000 students in Maryland colleges by 1970.

Dr. Ensor predicted that the heavy influx of students in the next decade "will be a permanent condition" in this state.

The increased lead on colleges will require new remedies because the temporary measures of the post-war boom are not satisfactory, he said.

Besides the increased enrollment, Dr. Ensor cited a second trend which began during his tenure as president of Western Maryland: increased interest of industry in the problems of the liberal arts college.

He said industrial leaders have discovered that most of their leadership came from liberal arts rather than technical schools.

Dr. Ensor addressed a Western Maryland alumni group on his 10th anniversary as college president.

Capacity Steel Production Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp. ought to operate at around 100 per cent of capacity, give or take a few percentage points, for the rest of the year, Eugene G. Grace, chairman of the nation's second largest steel producer, said yesterday.

"We are not in the category of feeling a let-up in operations," Grace said. "We are on top of the wave in demand for our heavy products."

Of orders on hand on March 31 totaling $1,439,000,000, shipbuilding accounted for $690,000,000.

Solon Urges Air Safety

Asks CAB For Data On Near-Collisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Haskell (R-De) says he has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for further information about aircraft near-collisions in the Delaware area.

Haskell said he also had undertaken a personal study of air traffic problems in the area with a view toward increasing air safety.

With more than 1,500 planes traveling over Delaware daily, he said, more effective air traffic control is necessary.

"Our radar network itself has to be improved, including strengthening of radar contacts from plane to plane," he said.

Haskell recently introduced a bill to create an airways modernization board.

Opening Relief Rolls Praised

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Underwood believes that a legislative act opening relief rolls to public inspection was an "important step" in winning public confidence in improved Department of Public Assistance programs.

He told the West Virginia Welfare Conference here last night that the DPA "desperately needs better public relations. Without widespread public support, this program can never succeed."

For a long time, Underwood noted, there has been an intensive public clamor for more knowledge of the public assistance program. He said that demand motivated the recent legislation.

Ex-Police Chief, Partner Nabbed On Bribery Charges

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—A former Glenarden, Md., police chief and a man charged with operating an illegal still were charged yesterday with attempting to bribe a treasury alcohol tax agent.

The Internal Revenue Inspection Service identified the men as Charles S. Burney, 50, of Beaver Heights, Md., the former police chief, and Henry McDaniels, 43, of Washington. They posted bonds of $2,500 and $10,000, respectively, after appearing before U. S. Commissioner Samuel Meloy here. A preliminary hearing before Meloy was set for May 10.

Mayor James R. Cousins Jr. of Glenarden said Burney was asked to resign as police chief "in the best interests of the town" 18 months ago. He did not disclose the reason.

A revenue Service spokesman said Burney was arrested when he handed tax agent Raymond F. Acker $1,350, and that McDaniels was arrested nearby. The spokesman said Burney allegedly arranged the meeting with Acker when McDaniels had been charged with operating a 650-gallon still near LaPlata, Md.

Singapore Ministers Oppose Late Drinking

SINGAPORE (AP)—Experts trying to make the colony a tourist attraction have aroused the antagonism of church leaders by suggesting late drinking.

The experts, at a meeting, were also told that nightspot and hotel managers have been barred by the Singapore Musicians Union from bringing in foreign bands to improve their musical offerings.

Prince Georges Liquor, Gambling Arrests Increase

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—Liquor and gambling arrests in Prince Georges County have increased sharply this year, county police records show.

Police Chief George J. Panagoulis reported to county commissioners today there were 25 arrests on gambling charges in the first three months of 1957, compared with 28 during all of 1956. Vice squad members have made 30 liquor arrests this year, while only 70 were made in all of 1956.

Panagoulis said one result of police activity is that "the pin-ball machine business now is shot" in the county.

Drinking Said Less Popular

YORK, Pa. (AP)—The superintendent of the New Jersey Temperance League said last night that drinking is less popular now than it was 10 years ago.

The Rev. George W. Lewis told a temperance rally at the annual East Pennsylvania Conference of Evangelical Churches that 42 per cent of adults do not drink. He said 33 per cent did not drink in 1947.

He did not say how he arrived at the figures.

of the Malayan Christian Council, said: "We do not want to attract tourists by making it easier to drink."

Attacker Free On Probation

Assault On Young Mother Assailed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Magistrate Meyer M. Cardin released Philip L. White on probation after describing his assault of a young mother of two children as "one of the worst crimes" on his docket.

Cardin said he turned the 23-year-old used car salesman loose because White's mother said she needed him for her support.

White was accused of assaulting Mrs. Mildred Hanlin as she stood on a downtown street corner waiting for a bus. The 30-year-old woman testified a man leaped from a car and tried to force her into the vehicle.

Mrs. Hanlin said her clothing was torn when she grabbed a lamp post and held her position. Her screams caused the attacker to flee, but passersby got the license number.

The victim and her husband protested the magistrate's ruling and they were told they could press their case further with the State's attorney if they wished.

W. Va. Farmers Get Bad Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Virginia farmers were off to a comparatively poor start in the first two months of this year in turning farm produce into cash.

A Department of Agriculture report shows cash receipts from farm marketings were running about 11 per cent behind those for the January-February period last period.

The national total for the first two months this year was about two per cent above the amount for the corresponding months in 1956.

Vandalism Bad In Baltimore School System

BALTIMORE (AP)—A school official says vandalism at Baltimore schools has reached "staggering" proportions.

Charles A. Pertsch, senior supervisor of school buildings, said the cost of damage during the first three months of this year amounted to $19,790.

Pertsch said the greatest destruction was done to windows, with 5,623 smashed at a cost of $11,789. He said there were three cases of arson, 13 instances of miscellaneous damages, 86 cases of illegal entry and six cases of vandalism other than window-breaking.

The latest case occurred at the new Edmondson High School Wednesday night, where a gang of juveniles broke between 25 and 30 windows and damaged electrical and other fixtures.

Glazier Arrested On Robbery Count

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Montgomery County police reported today that a glazier charged with an $8,953 payroll robbery at Silver Spring was arrested in Tampa, Fla., by the FBI.

They identified him as Gerald W. Sweeney, 33, formerly of West Hyattsville.

A knitting bag containing a construction company's payroll was snatched from Eleanor Manson, 31-year-old secretary, as she entered the company's office last Oct. 17. She was knocked to the ground.

Police said Anlon Ingwersen, 34, of Camp Spring has been charged as an accomplice in the robbery. He was released on $7,500 bond.

Bridge Falls, Taking Auto

Two Persons Escape Injury At Saltburg

SALTSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A 150-foot structural steel bridge collapsed yesterday while an auto was crossing.

The single-lane span fell about 30 feet into shallow Loyahanna Creek, dropping the auto onto some boulders in the Creek Bed.

The car's occupants, H. Edward Pennell, 51, of New Alexandria, Pa., and his 16-year-old son, Harry, escaped injury.

Cause of the collapse was not immediately determined. Saltburg is in Western Pennsylvania.

Segregation Bill Given Setback

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Senate has refused to lift from committee the "last resort" segregation bill which would allow suspension of public schools rather than accept racial integration.

Yesterday's 22-16 vote was considered a major setback for the bill, which remains in the Education Committee.

The measure allows residents of any locality upon petition of 15 per cent of the people to vote on the question of suspending the schools. If a school is suspended, pupils can be transferred to another district or county or the state can pay private school tuition.

No Pay

Members of Congress receive no extra compensation for work on committees. Committee membership is sought for the influence it carries, opportunity for service and its political importance.
